Lewis-Bridges Split Blocking Fund Operation

Seating Of Operators Representative On Welfare Board Also Blocked

COURT ACTION MAY BE SOUGHT

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A split between John L. Lewis and Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., today stymies operation of the United Mine Workers welfare fund and blocks the seating of the operator representative on the board of trustees.

The UMW president reportedly barred former Federal Judge Charles J. Dawson, newly-appointed industry trustee, from taking his post on the three-man board which governs the 100 million dollar annual fund.

Without Dawson, a Louisville, Ky., attorney, the fund cannot operate. In recent decisions, Lewis has voted one way and Bridges another. By court ruling, two of the three trustees must approve actions of the fund.

In fact, Dawson apparently cannot be seated unless Lewis should withdraw his opposition and vote with Bridges to accept the new member to the board.

Meet Again December 2

The trustees will meet again December 2—one day after the scheduled start of a new strike by 375,000 soft coal diggers—and resume their battle. There is a possibility that Dawson might seek the aid of a federal court in occupying his trustee position.

Thanksgiving vacation begins at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon for the pupils of the city's public schools. Vacation ends Monday morning, when school will begin as usual. The county schools are operating on separate schedules and will in all probability be off at different times.

PA News noted that motorists were doubly cautious this morning about descending the hills. Folks, who in a few weeks will be skidding over the snow at dangerous speeds, crept along about five miles an hour. This was particularly noticeable on Highland avenue during the rush hour. There was a procession which extended from Wallace avenue back to the Highland school.

Mrs. Fred Reider, 1024 Huey street, reports a strange incident to PA News which occurred in her home Monday. She was about to ascend her stairway when she discovered a large snake looking menacingly at her. After dispatching the reptile, Mr. Reider found that it measured 30 inches in length.

Another report of unthinking individuals who are eligible for the nearest person class has reached PA News' desk. Mrs. William Slack, 304 North Cascade, states that two small pups were dumped near her residence about the same time that the one was dropped on Smithfield street, which was reported in PA News column Monday. One of the pups had already found a home, while the other is still looking for one.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery Arrives At New York

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The arrival of the liner Queen Elizabeth Monday brings smiles to the faces of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Britain and American actresses Bonita Granville (left) and Janis Paige. The famed wartime general will see the Army-Navy game during his two-week visit in the United States.

Field Marshal Montgomery Is In Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery makes the first speech of his American visit today before sounding out American defense chiefs on Atlantic treaty military plans.

The wartime British military leader, now the chief commander under the Brussels treaty for the Western Union Nations, will address a luncheon of the Washington Press Club.

He will then be taken to the Pentagon for a "tea" to be served in the office of Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Carol Singing Again Planned

Plans Started At Meeting At G.N.C.A. Offices On Monday Night

Christmas carol singing, an annual Greater New Castle Association holiday feature will be presented again this year.

At a meeting held in the GNCA office Monday night, Chairman Ross R. Rosenberger worked out a schedule with representatives of various national groups and a tentative program adopted.

The carol singing will be held on the public square, beginning with the Welsh group on Saturday night, December 17. On Monday night, December 19, the Swedish group will sing, on Tuesday night, December 20, the German group. On Wednesday night, December 21, the Ukrainian group will sing; on Thursday night, December 22, the Negro group, and on Friday night, December 23, the Negro children's chorus and the Senior High school a cappella singers will be heard.

It is hoped to present two groups of songs each night and places are being reserved for other groups which it is believed will come in later.

The groups will sing carols in their native language and in English. Each year the carol singing has been a pleasant feature of the pre-Christmas week and this year it should be one of the best yet presented.

Two Boys Hurt While Examining Souvenir Shell

HOMER CITY, Pa., Nov. 22.—(INS)—One boy was in critical condition today and another required hospital treatment for injuries suffered when a souvenir battlefield shell exploded as they were examining it.

The boys, David Roth and Harry Long, both 15, were taken to the Johnstown hospital from Homer City for treatment of multiple shell fragment wounds.

The Roth boy's condition was described as critical. Both his hands were mangled and he lost five fingers. His companion was able to return home after treatment.

Police said the youths were inspecting a 50mm German tracer shell. Both had removed the head and was picking at it with a nail when it exploded.

Weather Bureau Says More Snow

(By International News Service)
A white Thanksgiving with accompanying cold weather is the holiday prospect for western Pennsylvania.

The weather bureau said the temperature would drop to 20 to 25 tonight and there would be snow flurries. The long range forecast calls for temperatures averaging about two degrees below normal through Sunday.

Snow in most of the area and colder is on the way for Thanksgiving day, with the mercury rising but accompanied by snow or light rain for the weekend.

Shot By Suitor

As police closed in on the former boy friend, Robert Lundin, 33, cornering him in a parking lot, he shot himself under the heart. He is reported in "good" condition.

Burglars Open Safe; Steal $300

Safe At Sons Of Italy Office On South Mill Street Robbed Early Today

Burglars broke into the safe of the Sons of Italy office, 905 South Mill street, some time early today, stole about $300, passed up $15,000 in war bonds and escaped, according to a report made to police headquarters today. An inquiry is under way by detectives.

The burglars entered the building by "jimmying" open a window on the second floor. They next "jimmied" a second floor door and descended to the first floor, where the safe is located.

They knocked off the safe combination, which loosened a bolt allowing the burglars access to the safe. They took between $300 and $400, the report stated.

The burglary was discovered by (Continued on Page Two)

Report Disorders In Philippines

MANILA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Rebellious disorders were reported tonight from various parts of the Philippines and the national constabulary cracked down with gunfire and wholesale arrests to check the outbreak.

Rigid security measures were put into effect in Manila to protect the capital and the constabulary issued a call for 8,000 men to join government forces in an effort to "bolster the national police strength."

Expect To Start Hospital Work Early In Spring

Bids To Be Asked For Jameson Memorial Hospital Addition In February

FLOOR PLANS ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

Construction upon the addition to the Jameson Memorial Hospital will probably start as soon as weather permits next spring.

Captain Roger W. Rowland, president of the Board of Directors of the hospital said today that floor plans for the addition were approved Monday night at a meeting of the directors.

To Advertise Bids

The architects of the addition, Eckles and Thayer of New Castle will now complete the detail of the plans and bids will be ready for advertisement sometime in February.

In preparing the floor plans the architects followed the instructions of the directors to make this addition as modern as possible. This has been done and consulting with Eckles and Thayer has been Dr. Lucius Wilson of New York, an operation and planning consultant.

One of many features in the new wing will be the nursery. It will be air conditioned, have special rooms for infectious cases, and will be constructed to give the new youngster every possible advantage.

Another feature which will be valuable will be an orthopedic operating room. A new laundry will be installed in the addition.

Spurs Hunt For Husband, Being Held In Hungary

(BULLETIN)

BUDAPEST, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The Hungarian government announced today the arrest of Robert A. Vogeler, an American business executive, on charges of espionage and sabotage.

VIENNA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The wife of an American businessman missing in Communist Hungary for more than four days appealed urgently to the U. S. and Britain today to help find him.

U. S. authorities said they were "very active" in the case of Robert Vogeler, Jr., of Jackson Heights, L. I., N. Y., who was last seen at 9 a. m. Friday, in the American Legation in Budapest. At that time he was preparing to rejoin his wife and two small children in Vienna.

Metropolitan Opera Season Is Opened

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Metropolitan Opera opened its 65th season last night with the usual glitter of society, celebrities and sight-seers, but without the zany stunts of yesterday.

There was the usual twin bill: would stay away because "I love music, not high jinks."

Other socialites and artists, usually counted on to lift the Met curtain with a bank, turned sissy.

Biggest noise, outside the pope of champagne corks in the opera bar, was an ovation given the show on the stage — "Der Rosenkavalier," featuring Rise Stevens, this time—and the one in the lobby—a mob scene in diamonds and ermine.

Prima Donna Mary Garden demonstrated that there is more than one way to skin a cat by not even attending the opening. She wired, in returning her tickets, that she Federal Court Judge Harold R. Medina as he strolled unsuspecting through the 39th street "celebrities" entrance.

Next biggest stir greeted Rudolf Bing, who takes over Edward Johnson's place as Metropolitan Opera's general manager next June.

At 7:30, lined-up guests began to usher into the celebrity aisle. Met soprano Dorothy Kirsten (a yellow blonde last year, but silver blonde for '50) was photo-flashed for three minutes.

Clady's Swarthout, in ruby satin, rated a one-minute camera stand. By the time the queen socialite, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, was rolled up in a wheelchair, there (Continued on Page Two)

Thanksgiving Services Are Planned In City

New Castle residents, along with thousands of others throughout the nation, will attend worship services Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, to offer humble thanks to God for the bountiful blessings of the past year.

Nine services have been planned in the city of a union nature, which will attract many hundreds as they listen to Thanksgiving addresses given by visiting ministers. Two of the services are planned for Wednesday evening, while the others are scheduled for Thanksgiving morning.

Wednesday Services

The two services planned on Wednesday evening will take place at the Mahoning Methodist church for the Seventh ward area and in the Wesley Methodist church, West Side, for the residents of that district. Rev. H. L. Krause, new pastor of the Madison Avenue Christian church, will be heard at the Mahoning church, while Rev. Everett Spring will address the West Side audience.

Siamese Twins Born In Canada

TOFIELD, Alberta, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Physicians kept a close watch on three-day-old Siamese twin girls today, hopeful that they can be kept alive.

The twins, joined at their abdomens, were born Saturday to Mrs. A. E. Townsend, 20, wife of a 22-year-old clerk. They are being kept in an incubator.

Dr. W. H. Freedbury, in charge of the case, said it is too early yet to determine whether an operation can be performed to separate the girls.

Rescuers Reach Scene Of Plane Crash At Oslo

One 11 Year Old Boy Is Rescued Alive—35 Were Aboard Plane

REMOVING BODIES FROM PLANE RUINS (BULLETIN)

OSLO, Nov. 22.—(INS)—A 11-year old Jewish refugee boy was rescued alive today from the wreckage of a Dutch airliner which crashed into a hillside south of Oslo on Sunday night with 35 persons aboard.

The lad, identified as Isaac Allal, apparently was the only survivor. The plane carried 27 other child refugees from North Africa, their guardians and the crew.

He was reported to have been injured seriously and was taken to a hospital near the crash scene.

Removing Bodies

Hours after the boy's recovery there was no word of any other survivors. A message from the scene, however, said that all bodies have not yet been removed from the wreckage, leaving a "faint possibility" that others might still be alive.

Earlier unconfirmed reports spoke of nine survivors, but Oslo police announced one child lived through the crash.

Prior to the brief official announcement, Oslo treated all reports of survivors with utmost reserve.

(According to word reaching Stockholm, the rescued boy was badly injured. A second Stockholm dispatch said that other children, wedged tightly in the wreckage, apparently were alive.)

Patrols reported that they were heard crying as they sought to cut through the badly cracked-up DC-3.

U. S. To Oppose Surplus Food Clearing House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The United States is reported ready to fight a proposal in a United Nations group for the establishment of a world-wide clearing house for surplus food.

The proposal of an international commodity clearing house is a prime topic in the meeting of the UN food and agriculture organization, which is expected to offer some solution to the paradox of food surpluses in a world with more than a billion undernourished people.

U. S. opposition to the plan is said to be based on the contention that the ICCH would be more of a financial mechanism than an actual distributor of food.

What do I want for Christmas. I know it's too early yet, but the average person is thinking now of the things they are going to get. I don't need hankies, nor fancy socks, nor candy or pipes or cigars, nor streamlined yachts, nor a diamond ring, nor a couple of snappy cars. What I'd like to have doesn't cost too much. Just a smidgeon of common sense. I'd like a world that has quiet and peace where no nation gives offense. I'd like a world where everyone would have plenty to eat and wear and a place to live that was neat and clean, a world that was free from care. A world where every man did his best to keep war's alarms away, it isn't much, but it's what we need. It's 34 today.

Injuries Fatal To Hayes Bauder

Portersville Man Succumbs In Ellwood City Hospital This Morning

Injuries which were sustained when struck by an auto driven by Charles E. Allen, 72, of West Portersville, Pa., Saturday evening, culminated in the death in the Ellwood City hospital, of Hayes Bauder, aged 72, of Portersville, Pa., Coroner Charles E. Allen reports. Mr. Bauder expired at 11:40 a.m. today. According to the report received by the coroner's office, Mr. Bauder was struck while crossing the busy Perry highway, suffering a fracture of the skull, and fracture of the left leg.

State police who investigated the accident, stated that driving conditions were bad Saturday evening, at the time of the accident. The street lights in Portersville had not yet been turned on, and it was raining at the time, making visibility poor. Tanner told them that he did not see Mr. Bauder until the car struck him. His testimony was corroborated by William Mancino, of 210 Blanchard street, and John Stroia, of 13 1/2 E. Long avenue, who were occupants of Tanners car.

His body was taken to the Glenn Funeral Home at Zelienople to be prepared for burial.

From 9 o'clock Monday evening, throughout most of the night, state highway department cinderling crews were kept on the job on county road 11. It is reported by Alfred A. Martin, county highway superintendent. All roads were kept passable by the vigilance of the workmen. Some of the men were on the job yet early this morning keeping their eyes on spots which needed recinderling.

Extra blankets and other bed covering was called into service over the night by various residents due to the drop in temperature following the mild weather which has been experienced over the past weeks. At Enon Valley, the low temperature of 14 degrees above zero was registered while in the city somewhat higher temperatures were recorded.

A mountain sized pile of canned goods and other staples is found in the Sunday school room of the First Presbyterian church on North Jefferson street. Young people and other groups of the church have brought the foodstuffs for use of the City Mission in feeding transient men who call at the mission from time to time. The array makes an imposing sight and the appeal will be carried over next Sunday so that others may aid in the project.

City buses, along with motorists driving pleasure vehicles were found with chains on this morning, the first time this season. Hill districts were quite slippery in spots and without chains travel was very slow.

Bachelor Slain At Jenkintown

Philadelphia Police Make Arrest Following Discovery Of Murdered Man

JENKINTOWN, Pa., Nov. 22.—(INS)—The bound and strangled body of a man, identified as 37-year-old Joseph J. Scull, was discovered yesterday in the kitchen of his Jenkintown home and Philadelphia police arrested a suspect on a tip furnished by Jenkintown authorities.

The subject, identified only as a 22-year-old flower peddler, was seized at his home in Philadelphia and taken to City Hall for questioning.

Police said the suspect admitted meeting Scull, a statistician for the Philco Corp., last Thursday in Philadelphia and that they visited taverns together Saturday night in Jenkintown.

Police Chief Frank A. Sweeney of Jenkintown accompanied two Philadelphia detectives in the arrest. Sweeney had received a telephone tip that Scull was seen with the man Saturday night.

Police said that the bachelor apparently was slain by robbers who ransacked the three-story house. Two second floor bedrooms were in disorder, but there was no immediate indication of theft.

ing crews got out onto the streets in the night.

Traffic Moves Slowly

This morning found motorists creeping along the icy highways, and is usually the case with the first bad spell of weather, they were extremely cautious.

Motorists who had not already stocked up with anti-freeze crowded service stations to have their cars fixed up for winter driving, and most service stations did a land office business.

Although the same amount of snow fell last Friday morning, it did not get as cold, and the snow soon melted off.

Local folks hope that the weather, which has been experienced during the past week is not indication of what it is going to be like this winter.

Hunger Is Cause Of Surrender Of Prison Fugitive

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Hunger is Rockview penitentiary's best watchdog for trustees who have a yen for escaping.

Officials at the state penitentiary at Bellefonte reported the surrender today of Furman Johnson, 23, a trustee who escaped Saturday.

He stumbled through the mountain woodlands since his escape with nothing to eat. He gave himself up in exchange for food at the first house he came to in Houltzdale, about 50 miles from the prison.

Johnson was sentenced from Bradford county to two to seven years for assault with intent to kill.

Earlier last week another escaped prison trustee surrendered because he was hungry.

on the west bank of the Oslo fjord, the bay leading to Oslo.

The Oslo-bound Aero Holland plane had been the object of a vast two-day search which ended today in a thickly wooded area between the little towns of Flitvet and Storsand.

Two young men spotted the twin-engine transport. They reported that some dead were strewn about the plane but that they heard moans from inside the fuselage.

The airliner appeared to have cut a path 40 yards wide through the forest as it fell to the ground, but had not caught fire.

The big craft was pinpointed about one mile from a farm house called Elgoten Gaard, in the midst of a thickly wooded area southwest of Oslo.

The plane was sighted at about noon (6 a.m. EST).

The plane, on the last leg of a Tunis-to-Oslo flight, vanished on Sunday night. Besides the children victims of Anti-Semitic demonstrations in Tunisia—the two-engine airliner carried three nurses and a crew of four.

The children were to undergo rehabilitation in Oslo before being sent to Israel to rejoin their parents.

when Bridges became neutral trustee—is to tighten the ban against spending current revenues of the fund.

The welfare program had to stop pensions and other benefits to miners two months ago because it was running out of money collected under the 1948 coal contract which expired last June 30. The fund reportedly has only about $800,000 in 1948 revenues.

Lewis is said to have proposed resuming some benefits by using the $12,900,000 collected through the operators' 20 cents a ton royalty payments since June 30.

Bridges refuses to approve expenditure of 1949 revenues on grounds that such action is illegal until a new contract is signed by Lewis and the operators or a court validates such expenditures.

Pittsburgh Gets Court Hearing On Fare Boosts

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The State Supreme Court today granted the city of Pittsburgh a hearing on its last-minute appeal against an increase in bus and trolley fares.

Chief Justice George W. Maxey set tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock as the time for the hearing.

Young Married Couple Found Shot To Death

DOWNTOWN, Pa., Nov. 22.—(INS)—A young married couple found shot to death in a Chester county woods was tentatively listed as a murder-suicide today by the coroner's office.

The victims were identified as George C. Powell, 28, a steelworker from nearby Bondsville, and his wife, Mildred M., 28.

Deputy Coroner Fred B. Manship said Powell apparently shot his wife and then committed suicide.

Manship said there were some puzzling circumstances about the deaths, however, and that an investigation would be continued.

For a luncheon salad mix chopped hard-cooked egg with minced leftover ham and use sour cream for the dressing. Serve on split greens or use as a filling for salad toasted frankfurter rolls?

The next total eclipse of the sun, visible in New York, will come in October 26 in the year 2144.

THANKSGIVING AGAIN!

Here it is, time to give thanks again for the many good things we have had in the past year. Crops have been wonderful, business good, and taking the country as a whole, we have much to be thankful for. We expect our ups and downs, but if we didn't have them, we would get too independent, and it would be hard for people to live with us.

So, everyone of us have lots to be thankful for, but, do we sit down and take time to be thankful. As we look around, there are a number of people who are worse off than we are, and our duty is to help one another in these good times and bad times. JUST BE THANKFUL.

Ashing Crews Have Difficult Time During Night

Motor vehicular traffic had a difficult time, ascending and descending East Washington street hills early this morning, according to motorists.

Streets Director James Gibson reported today that ashing crews worked all night, ashing all paved hills.

A snow fell at 1:30 a. m. covering the ashes.

He explained that East Washington street, west from Butler avenue, was ashed after six a. m. today, but the eastern section was not ashed until about nine a. m., he learned.

All paved hills, bridges and Mahoning avenue viaduct were ashed again this morning, he stated.

Water on earth absorbs about 40 per cent of the sun's energy falling upon it.

LEAVE US ALONE WEEK

A glance at the list of 57 "public service" campaigns to which the Advertising Council gave various degrees of promotional support last year—at a cost to agencies and advertising media of about $100,000,000—leaves no doubt that many a good cause was well served.

But among the 66 requested promotions turned down by the Council was at least one, "National Leave Us Alone Week," which has a soul-satisfying appeal to a public with nerves jaded by blaring sound trucks, singing radio commercials, direct-mail advertising and all the other forms of propaganda from which no escape is possible.

We do not quarrel with the Council's decision to withhold its support from "National Laugh Week." Few nervous systems, we believe, are prepared to cope with the unrestrained and constant chuckles and guffaws of members of families and friends, much less of all the strangers on street cars and buses.

Besides, "National Laugh Week" would be unnecessary if we had a "National Leave Us Alone Week." Freed from the irritations which appear to be inseparable from many forms of propaganda, Americans would find plenty to laugh about during those seven precious days and would be refreshed enough to give more adequate consideration to the good causes to be presented to them during the next 51 weeks.

RIDING ON SUNSHINE

Outlook for motorists was never brighter. In the future—exact period undetermined—motor cars may be powered by sunshine. This may alleviate the disappointment of those who expected 1950 model automobiles to be powered by atom-propelled jet engines.

Several details remain to be worked out before a driver can set his car down at a gas pump and order a tankful of sunshine preparatory to a week-end tour. But that happy day is a distant possibility.

Who says so? Officials of the Research Laboratories Division of General Motors. John Campbell, chief of the Organic Chemistry Department of General Motors, says the possibility of using solar energy for power production has received much scientific attention.

The average amount of solar energy falling on one acre of ground in the temperate zone in a single day is equivalent to 700 gallons of gasoline, or enough to operate the average automobile for a year, he reveals.

Learning the secret of the process by which green plants absorb and utilize solar energy is one of the most important factors of man's hunt for motive power, Mr. Campbell reveals in an article in "Lab Notes," a General Motors publication.

Other groups also are engaged in experiments to put the sun to work under the hoods of motor vehicles. Total solar radiation reaching the earth represents an inexhaustible source of over 2,000 times total energy requirements, Mr. Campbell maintains, adding that "the harnessing of solar energy is one of the most important long-range problems of our civilization."

As yet no completely practical solution has been found, he admits. But what the heck. All this means is that the Solar Six will not make its debut in 1950.

LITTLE CALLS 'EM OFF

At a luncheon of football writers in New York that subject was up again. Several of the East's top coaches let their pie a la mode melt while they chose up sides and flailed away at, or staunchly defended, the two-platoon system.

There is this much to be said about the controversy this year: The masks are off. Detractors of the offensive-defensive squad system last year built their case on the permanent harm that was being done to the grand old institution of football. This year the argument goes something like this: "How do you expect me to put an offensive and a defensive team on the field when I've only got one backfield coach, one end coach, and only 20-odd available players? It's the battle of the haves and have nots."

After most campuses had been heard from, Lou Little, Columbia's able and respected coach, rose to blow the whistle on the scrimmage. Little, who has mediocre material and a horrible record of wins and losses this year, might have been excused if he tossed in with the have nots. On the contrary, he delivered a stirring fiat:

"If you can't meet your opponents on even terms consistently, you must either repair your football fences or drop down into a class where you can. You can never equalize the playing strength of two squads by legislation."

Coach Little's ultimatum, which was a thinly veiled way of saying put up or shut up, should draw a round of applause from a majority of those who pay to sit in the stands.

Persons five miles from an atomic explosion will be out of danger. But how will it be possible to learn where the reds are going to drop 'em.

Evidently it was one of the chaps who never miss a radio commercial who referred to his best girl as having "that built-in goodness," previously attributed only to breakfast cereals.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

One of the most sharply-contested issues of the postwar years—the degree of punishment that should be exacted from the wartime Nazi generals who functioned under Adolf Hitler—was projected into the news today.

Centered about the seemingly simple fact that Field Marshal Fritz Erich von Manstein, one of the top generals in the Nazi hierarchy, slipped and broke his collarbone in his prison cell at Hamburg in the British zone of Germany.

Von Manstein's case has been in progress for months.

His arraignment in the first place was on a wide variety of heavy charges. Now 76 years of age, he stands accused of having in his military lifetime engineered a campaign of aggression and brutality against mankind that seemingly knew no bounds.

But under the laws first laid down by the international military tribunal of justice that assembled in the dingy old municipal courthouse at Nuremberg in 1946, it was compulsory to give him every last consideration.

Age Taken Into Consideration

His age has been taken into consideration. Also his reputation as a reliable soldier who obeyed orders and his many years of work as an officer of the Prussian War college in its ornate building just off the Wilhelmstrasse in Berlin that like so many of its neighboring structures was turned into rubble by Allied war bombardment.

The question has been raised, both in the western and eastern sections of Germany, with regard to disposition of the cases affecting Nazi military leaders indicted for war crimes who still are awaiting trial or who have removed themselves from legal punishment.

The record of suicides among German army commanders is a lengthy if not impressive one. Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goerring, possessor of the most be-spangled string of titles in the history of Nazi Germany, set his profound example by swallowing a pill of deadly potassium just before he was to be hanged.

Emulates Suicide

Heinrich Himmler, his No. 1, alternate as chief of the Gestapo, emulated his suicide just before the final surrender by taking a similar lethal dose at Flensburg. Field Marshal Von Stuephenberg, who handled the military end of it while Otto Von Abetz supervised the civilian oppression of Parisian citizens during the Nazi occupation, threw himself to death while awaiting trial at Nuremberg.

Another field marshal—Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt—was tried and tribulation in the British zone of Germany on the grounds of advanced age and ill health. He was the military genius who mounted on December 19, 1944 the last German offensive against the American and British armies in the Ardennes forest of Belgium.

Under cover of fog and backed by platoons of Nazi soldiery which later stood trial for unprecedented wartime barbarism, Von Rundstedt drove the Allies out of Spa and back toward Liege in a terrific attack.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ENJOY CHILD WHILE HE'S YOUNG

Parents have a right to enjoy their children. Most parents do enjoy them. All the hours and hours of patient physical care of the infant by the mother, and all the worries and anxieties over irritations by both parents over the child's health and behavior, while he is growing up are, as a rule, heavily outweighed and deeply overshadowed by satisfactions over him. Certainly at almost any moment of musing, a parent's pleasant memories predominate.

Most parents enjoy great satisfactions from seeing their child grow up, launch out on his own, and rear his own family. And when by and by these parents are left alone, their richest satisfactions come from seeing and thinking of their children.

Fret and Worry

Although a few parents fret and worry after their children have grown up and left home, because these children have not turned out as well as the parents had dreamed they would, most parents have their dreams fulfilled, even surpassed.

An occasional pair of parents who have tried so very hard to guide their children well, having sought constantly all the wisdom they could find to use to this end, feel they have failed. Maybe these parents have been far better parents than they suppose they have been. They may not have failed at all. Moreover, there may have been circumstances so far beyond the control of these parents as to amaze a thoughtful observer at how well these parents really did. In their place what other parents could have done better, even as well.

Then there are some children who turn out very well even though their parents did not seem to follow the rules of the experts or to take advantage of nearly all the resources for parental guidance easily available. Yet these parents usually had other qualities not easily discerned, perhaps, by the expert, which help explain the good way their children have developed and turned out.

Among these qualities are moral and spiritual integrity, self-discipline, unselfishness, and a type of living on a high plane among their neighbors and their children, which have won the deep and abiding love and admiration of these children and inspired them to better up-ward. Some day the expert may discern more clearly some of these secrets and be able to point them out to other parents and to show these other parents how to profit from them.

But with the rank and file of (Continued On Page Seven)

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A new high in mortification was scored at a local radio station by a young couple who were breaking in a new song-and-dance program. It was on a sustaining basis and there was no money for expensive guest stars, but the couple persuaded their good friends, the Andrews sisters, to appear gratis one evening to help hype the rating.

The Andrews sisters were in the studio waiting to do one of their most popular specialties when a new expert of the station burstled in, took one look at the girls, and barked, "No guests are allowed in the broadcasting studio. You'll have to leave at once." The host explained desperately, "You don't understand, Mr. So-and-so. These are the Andrews sisters." "I don't care whose sisters they are," declared the expert. "Get 'em out of here."

As an afterthought he called over his shoulder, "And fire Andrews, too."

Gypsy Rose Lee, the somewhat different strip-tease artiste, admitted to an interviewer, "I know men aren't attracted to me by my mind. They're attracted by what I don't mind."

Folks Of Fame

Arnold Daly, once famous actor was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 4, 1875. He was first employed as an office boy in the late Charles Frohman's office. He made his first appearance on stage with Fanny Rice in 1892. In The Jolly Squire. Two of his noted plays were Beau Brummel and Arms and the Man. He was successful in London as well as New York, and gained prominence also as producer of George Bernard Shaw's plays. He died Jan. 13, 1927.

John Singer Sargent was born Jan. 12, 1856, in Florence, Italy, of American parents. His first exhibited picture, shown in Paris in 1878, won an honorable mention, and is now in the Corcoran Gallery, Washington, D. C. He was extremely successful, although there was much criticism of his work. He was a member of the Royal Academy and painted portraits of many of the world's women, but grew tired of this type of art and began to experiment with water colors. His fiancée died on the eve of their marriage and he remained a bachelor. He died in England April 15, 1925.

State Police Say:

The STOP sign is one of the most common of our road regulations. To pass a STOP sign without stopping is supposed to cost a five dollar fine, but it would be interesting to know how many drivers have paid with their lives for this violation. The many drivers, we find, feel that they stop in obedience to the sign their responsibility is ended. The law specifically demands that when you stop for the STOP sign you must then yield the right of way to all traffic approaching in either direction on the through highway.

Time we mention the fact that there is still time to purchase your ticket for the big Thanksgiving Nite Dance . . . This is the 30th year for the Annual Police Ball . . . to be held again this year at the Cathedral . . . from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. . . Price for each couple is two dollars . . . included in addition to a well known dance band will be four good acts (vaudeville) and 12 excellent door prizes . . . And since we are talking about the law . . . let's take a moment to refresh all minds . . . about the conduct that people should use while attending the big football game of this coming Saturday at Pitt Stadium . . . this is embarrassing, the need for all this talk at the Stadium in 1948. After the "nuts" broke loose and tore down the goal posts before the game was over . . . and the benches and iron railings of the stadium were destroyed by the "nutty" fans . . . It only stands to reason that efforts will be made this year to keep the same from happening again . . . It's embarrassing to have such things happen . . . it reflects on the entire community . . . The game Saturday will be a tough one. McKeesport has a good team . . . just as well trained as ours and the players are just as well groomed. Florida's Sense Of Humor

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

The State of Florida is not without a sense of humor.

It started the laughter going by charging me $7.75 for a hunting license, and then to roll the customers in the aisles it gave me a booklet which told me how much game I could kill and warned me against exceeding the limit.

I just came in from the woods after a day of shooting and if I had killed everything the booklet said I could I would have been burdened with one buck deer, two quail, ten quail, twelve cat squirrels, three fox squirrels, fifteen marsh hens, and an unlimited number of such unprotected items as English sparrows, sharp-shinned hawks, wildcats, skunks, panthers and butchersbirds.

But what did I bring in? Well, let's see.

What He Brought In

One lost temper, one disgusted bird dog, and the world's record for shooting the tops off small trees and big bushes.

There isn't so much as one feather in my coat, and unless the other men who are out here with me shooting over Dixie Skinner's acres are better shots than I am we are going to sit down to a game dinner of pork and beans and pea nut butter sandwiches. Well, there's this consolation—a peanut butter sandwich is easy to clean, and no one will be able to argue as to whether the beans are too rare or not.

Each year I swear on a stack of bibles that I will never hunt again.

There, still unrepentant and still loaded, stands the answer to the national debt.

But it was amazing to hear the President say that he might have to use the Taft-Hartley law . . . then he went and washed out his mouth with soap.

Batt Goes To Bat

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—Unemployment in the United States is where William Batt, Jr., Assistant Secretary of Labor, sticks pins in a large map on the north wall of a tiny conference room next door to his office on Constitution Avenue.

"I can't talk in a vacuum," says Batt as he leads a visitor into the map room and swings a long arm toward the wall. "There's where people aren't working."

"There" is mostly the New England textile mill towns, the Pennsylvania hard coal villages and a cluster of sore spots in the Great Lakes area. Elsewhere the pins are few and far between. But if you ask Batt about strike-caused unemployment, he assumes the deadpan expression of a man who refuses to mention the unmentionable. Strikes are things you should politely avoid talking about in the Labor Department.

Sees Situation Clearly

But except for this ideological blindspot—a common ailment among Fair Deal labor-lovers—Batt sees American unemployment clearly and sees it whole. Partly this is because he is a young Philadelphia manufacturer on extended leave to Washington. Unlike many Administration braintrusts, Batt thinks that Washington is not the place to solve unemployment problems. For that reason he is constantly on trains and planes, visiting distressed areas and urging local authorities to lick their own unemployment troubles. He confidently believes this can be done by the exercise of local gumption.

The paradoxical fact about unemployment is that it doesn't really exist, except when brought on by strikes. There are enough jobs to go around in America. The only trick is (a) to bring the workers to the job or (b) bring the job to the worker.

Mr. Roosevelt's administration tentatively suggested the worker-to-the-job method during the war, but it was a hot potato. In a dictator-the-job method during the war, but it was a hot potato. In a dictator-the-job method during the war, but it was a hot potato. In a dictator-the-job method during the war, but it was a hot potato.

The only place in North America where worker-to-the-job is officially tolerated is along the Mexican border. Under an agreement reached last August, the Mexican government does allow American employers to accept contract consignments of Mexican farm workers under strict regulations, not always observed.

Chief Concern Is Seen

Batt's chief concern is with the other method—bring the job to the worker. He believes that new industries can be established in areas where there's a surplus labor force. But industries can't be ordered to a spot any more than workers can. So Batt is trying to encourage the forming of full-employment committees (not Federal commissions) in regions where they're needed. If his plans keep up to his schedule, he'll have 19 of these committees on his unemployment map by Christmas.

Batt's prototype is the full-employment committee in Michigan, established by his good friend Gov. "Soapy" Williams. The Michigan plan calls for a get-together by labor leaders, businessmen and political officials—all on the local level. This group studies the causes of slipping employment and works out schemes either to brake the trend or to reverse it by attracting new venture capital into the community.

In practice this often gets down to a case of the labor leader and the local politician assuring the businessman of fair treatment. Most industrialists, slap-happy from strikes and taxes, take a bit of convincing.

That Is Where It Comes In

So that is where Batt often comes in. He represents the idea that the Truman Administration should show more benevolence toward businessmen with venture capital to invest. Batt is trying to sell the Administration on a total overhaul of the insane tax structure, with special attention to Federal-State overlap.

A bill which proposed just that was introduced into the 81st Congress last winter by Rep. Boggs, Delaware Republican, but did not have the proper sponsorship. Batt is now reading it over, and it may return to Congress with Democratic backing.

As a manufacturer himself, Batt brings a rather refreshing attitude into the Administration. He believes that industry, with some genuine cooperation from labor and government, will become interested in "civic welfare" even while opposing the Welfare State.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

At a sales meeting which I attended not so long ago the speaker, himself an eminently successful sales manager, told his audience:

"If you want to be a successful salesman, your primary motive in life must be making money."

I thoroughly disagree with the speaker.

I can't imagine that to any successful person the making of money can be the primary motive in life.

But I wanted to make sure. So I talked to several men who had outstanding records in selling. I didn't mention what the speaker said at the meeting. I just asked them what there was about selling that had made them go into it in the first place; what kept them in it; and what had made them successful.

Not one mentioned money-making as his "motive" any more than people in any other profession or business or trade admit money-making as their incentive.

Certainly we all have to make a living.

There is a heck of a difference between "money-making" and "making a living" as motives.

One of the salesmen to whom I talked went into selling because he was intrigued by the possibilities of travel and meeting people. He thought it was a wonderful way to ride the Pullmans, to stay in good hotels, to see the country, to play cards with different people every night.

Sure he knew there was good money in selling. But that isn't why he went into it, or what kept him in it.

After more than twenty-five years as a salesman, this fellow still loves his "game."

The second salesman used to be a football player in college. He liked a scrap. He liked victory.

He said, "That's why I like it. Every prospect is like a player on the other team. You have to convince him. You have to knock him down, so to speak."

To get his signature on the dotted line is just like making a touchdown. It's fun and every sale is like winning a game."

For sheer excitement, one doubts if TV can ever match the early championship fight broadcasts that Batt, the late Graham McNamee ahead in every round.—Winnipeg Tribune.

36th Birthday Of Rotary Observed

New Castle Club Commemorates Founding Of Club At Meeting Monday

J. LEE McFATE GIVES HISTORY

New Castle Rotary club observed its 36th birthday with an appropriate program in connection with their weekly luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Monday noon. By a strange coincidence, the anniversary date fell on the exact day of the club's regular meeting day.

Greetings were received from the Kiwanis and Lions club, and in addition, the latter club sent a nice birthday cake.

Program Chairman Alan K. Schmidt called upon Past District Governor and Past President J. Lee McFate, who recalled the days which led up to the founding of the club and some of the outstanding things which were done in the early days of Rotary.

Founded in 1913 The club, he recalled, was founded November 21, 1913, and of the 21 charter members, two were present for yesterday's meeting. They are George Lyon and Charles T. Metzler.

Some of the early accomplishments of the club was the introduction of Boy Scouting to the district, the crippled children's clinic, which benefitted a number of children here and which was financed by the club until this work was taken over by the state.

The club entertained the district conference four times, he recalled, the last time being in 1948.

They also were instrumental in the Boy Scout camp being established and also sponsored and organized four clubs in the district, Sharon in 1918, Grove City in 1922, New Wilmington in 1926, and Bessemer in 1938.

THE HEARING AID THAT COULDN'T BE BUILT

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—A hearing aid that weighs approximately 3 ounces without batteries, and which sets a new standard in effortless speech understanding, is now ready for the American public.

Allen Hempel, president of a Minneapolis electronics laboratory, announced that the lightweight new hearing aid features greater amplification than previous instruments. A new microphone-and-clip design assures clear, undisturbed sound reception.

The new instrument, called the Telex 200, has a built-in battery economizer that cuts battery costs drastically. A time tested "wireless circuit" printed on polystyrene plastic makes possible an amazing reduction in weight and cubic content. The handsome case is finished in rolled silver plate, while the wide clip is 1/10 14 K gold-filled. Yet the Telex 200 sells at no increase in price.

Further details on this unique hearing aid—which is already bringing hearing happiness to thousands—may be had without obligation from: Mr. Allen Hempel, Box 1182, Minneapolis (1) Minnesota. He will also send you a booklet telling how to test your hearing at home. Write today.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

The Great Indulger

Some years ago an author writing about a certain type of father coined the phrase "The Great Indulger."

She was referring specifically to the man who felt that nothing was too good for his daughter. Usually such a feeling indicated over-attachment. The unduly strong affection seems to come most often in families where husband and wife have found their affection for another not too satisfying.

Of course, it isn't fathers alone who are "great indulgers." Mama, too, can come to feel that her boy can do no wrong and that nothing is too good for him.

We know that everyone needs to be loved. This is particularly true of children if they are to grow normally. But parental love can be as blind as romantic love. It is important for children to be loved. But it is also important that they do not gain a distorted idea of their own worth. The child for whom nothing has been too good is the adult who expects from husband or wife the continuation of a kind of coddling that makes for anything but desirable family relations.

Children should not be protected at every turn. They need to stand on their own feet and they need to learn that most of the things

Opera Star Denies Romance With Tito

Mrs. Zinka Milano Arrives In New York, Claims 'Affair' Was Soviet Trick

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Mrs. Zinka Milano, a Metropolitan Opera mezzo soprano, arrived in New York Monday from Europe and voiced angry denial that she has any romantic interest in Marshall Tito, of Yugoslavia.

It was charged this fall by the Soviet Literary Gazette that the Yugoslavian singer not only is Tito's current romance, but that she is an American spy.

"Oooh!" exclaimed Mrs. Milano in the lounge of the Queen Elizabeth when asked about both charges.

The Oooh was delivered in a heavy Yugoslavian accent, as were the rest of her remarks. She meant no to all the rumors. She said:

"I am artist. I live all my life for artistry—nothing else."

Mrs. Milano, a buxom blonde apparently in her 40's, was among the 2,173 passengers aboard the ship.

Knows Tito

She was interviewed wearing a mink coat, a mink-trimmed hat, carrying a Persian lamb coat over her arm, and with jewelry on all exposed sections except her legs.

She replied to reporters' questions as follows:

Q. Are you a spy?
A. That's ridiculous. That's impossible. It's only a dirty trick the Russians do to mix me up in an affair."

Q. Do you know Tito?
A. Yes. But I met him only because I sang at his birthday party on May 25, 1947. I am married woman.

(The mezzo soprano is married to Maj. Gen. Lubo Illich, of the Yugoslavian army, who is now on inactive service and working as an architect in Belgrade.)

Groome May Be State Official

Rumored As Possible Selection For Secretary Of State Position

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The name of John C. Groome, Philadelphia businessman, has popped up on Capitol Hill as Governor Duff's possible choice for secretary of state. . . . Groome, son of the founder of the Pennsylvania state police, was associated with the colorful first city cavalry troop and entered federal service in World War II with the 28th Infantry division of the Pennsylvania National Guard. . . . Gene D. Smith, Allentown attorney, was elevated from deputy of the department of acting secretary after Charles M. Morrison, of Ivyland, tendered his resignation because of ill health. . . . Republican sources on Capitol Hill hint that Duff may "go along" on the Groome recommendation which apparently was made by several GOP leaders. Groome has never been too prominent in the GOP picture but hails from a family long associated with Republican affairs.

Some Republicans are wondering whether political reasoning dictated Governor Duff's refusal of an invitation to the annual Pennsylvania Society of New York dinner at New York December 10. . . . The dinner, underwritten by prominent Pennsylvanians resident in Gotham, long has been a sounding board for Keystone state politics, particularly of the GOP brand. . . . Duff, frequently mentioned as a 1950 candidate for the U. S. Senate seat held by Francis J. Myers, of Philadelphia, said he would be in Chicago December 10 for a meeting with other governors. . . . One of the persons slated to be at the speaker's table next month at New York is none other than Francis J. Myers. The annual affair sparks more political tub thumping than anything of its kind. . . . It was after the last New York dinner that a story appeared in the U. S. Sen. Edward Martin for another term as governor.

Speaker Herbert P. Sorg, of St. Marys, may not seek another term in the House of Representatives in the 1950 elections, according to a western Pennsylvania Republican leader. . . . Sorg entered the House in 1941 and after a term as majority leader in 1947 was elevated to the speaker's rostrum for the 1949 session. . . . Under the two-term rule, he has another term as speaker starting in 1951 providing Republicans again win control of the House in 1950 balloting. . . . Sorg has been mum on the subject but it may be that his law practice demands more of his time. . . . Sorg has been credited with doing one of the better jobs on the rostrum during such trying sessions as the one last spring when not only Democrats were fitful but Republicans were wrangling publicly and privately over Governor Duff's huge spending program. . . . Sorg did his part to keep the front united at least on the floor of the House.

Five Pennsylvania cities which participated in a street light poll turned in reports to the Street and Traffic Safety Lighting Bureau at Cleveland, O., indicating a night accident experience worse than the national average. . . . The co-operating cities were Harrisburg, Altoona, Pittsburgh, Chester and Philadelphia. . . . The Lighting bureau reported that in comparison with 36 other cities in the nation, Pennsylvania's co-operating cities reported 36.4 per cent of all accidents and 76.2 per cent of all automobile fatalities stemmed from improper lighting. . . . The national average, according to the bureau, was 37 per cent for all accidents and 63 per cent for fatal accidents. . . . The report covered six months experience in each city.

Honor Daughter On Sixth Anniversary

Thirty Playmates Attend Rosemary Thompson's Sixth Birthday Anniversary

About 30 playmates gathered on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Thompson of 401 West Madison avenue. The occasion was in honor of the sixth birthday anniversary of their daughter Rosemary.

The group enjoyed playing games during the evening, and prizes were awarded to Eleanor Ramunno, Susan Freeman, Bill Campbell and Larry Thompson.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Campbell, Mrs. Harry Thompson, and Mrs. Wade Thompson. A lovely birthday cake graced the table, also fall flowers. At each place there was a miniature basket, with the name of the guest therein. The color scheme was pastel, pink, green, blue and yellow.

The honored guest was the recipient of many nice gifts, and a purse of money.

Ward Resident Back From California

Mrs. J. H. McCann of 913 West Clayton street has returned from San Pablo, Calif., where she visited for a month, with her daughter and son-in-law, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Ricker, and family. While there, a daughter was born to Lt. and Mrs. Ricker, named Virginia Jane Ricker. On her return home Mrs. McCann got a surprise to find that her husband had purchased for her an automatic gas stove, a double tub washer, and an automatic control hot-water tank. Mrs. Ricker gave her mother an orchid to bring home along.

K.J.U. Bible Class Will Meet Tonight

At the home of Mrs. Wade Daugherty of 422 Park avenue, members of the K.J.U. Bible class of Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will gather this evening at 8 o'clock for their regular meeting. Mrs. Paul Bender and Mrs. Evan Campbell will be associate hostesses.

Methodist Nursery Nicely Redecorated

Word came that under the sponsorship of the Davis Bible class of Mahoning Methodist church, the nursery room of the church has been redecorated, and some furnishings added, and improved ventilation made. This has made the room more attractive and convenient for the entertaining of the children of pre-school age, during the services of the church.

SEVENTH WARD NOTES

Mrs. Rose Reichert of 201 North Ashland avenue, who has been confined to New Castle hospital for over five weeks, is improving nicely. Mrs. Reichert underwent an operation about three weeks ago.

Jack Thompson of Pittsburgh has returned after spending the weekend with his parents, Mr.

and Mrs. Wade Thompson and family of 401 West Madison avenue.

Mrs. Stephen Hutnick Sr. of 105 East Clayton street, has been confined to her home with illness for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Casto Jr. of Mt. Jackson road, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sniezek of North Ashland avenue, have returned from Warren, O., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shepherd of Warren, O., formerly of the ward.

At the Margaret Henry Home, the Brownies Troop No. 52 will present a program this evening, beginning at 7 o'clock. They will meet at the high school at 6:30, and proceed to the home.

It is reported that Mt. Jackson road was in a slippery and dangerous condition Monday evening, until it was asked about 7 o'clock by the township supervisors. Several cars were stuck on the hill, and more ashing was done after midnight.

Members of Friendship Circle of Mt. Jackson U. P. church have planned to have their Christmas dinner on Tuesday evening, December 6, with families as guests.

Mr. and Mrs. John Prattley and son, formerly of Mt. Jackson road and Youngstown, visited on Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Ransom W. Barris and family, of Mt. Jackson road. The Prattleys had resided for about six months in Canada, but have returned, and will reside on R. D. 2, Youngstown road.

parents who enjoy their children abundantly, a knowledge of the facts accumulated by the experts on child development, child guidance and happy family life, and the constant effort at growing skillful to these ends, certainly have been useful.

I hope that because of this column many parents will enjoy their children while their children are growing up and later, more than they would have enjoyed them otherwise. The best wish I could extend to my readers who are parents is that they might enjoy their children as much as Mrs. Myers and I have enjoyed our children and grandchildren.

Three Are Facing Larceny Charges

State police reported today that they would file charges of burglary and larceny against Nelson J. Lyons, 26, Slippery Rock R. D. 2; Richard De Frischia, 22, Portersville R. D. 1, and Harold E. Saunders, 22, Portersville R. D. 2. They are in the county jail, having been apprehended Monday.

State police allege they stole a lawn power mower valued at $200 from Herman Union cemetery tool shed, Frew Mill road, selling it in Youngstown for $20 and also stole chickens in Wayne township and another lawn mower in Beaver county.

The trio are further alleged to have stolen gasoline from highway construction equipment along Frew Mill road in the vicinity of the Boy Scout camp.

Supreme Court Bars Eisler Appeal Case

Government Requests Action Of High Tribunal In Contempt Of Congress Conviction

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The supreme court Monday struck from its docket the appeal of Communist Leader Gerhard Eisler from a contempt of Congress conviction.

The tribunal acted in response to a government request. Its action leaves the conviction and the one-year prison sentence and $1,000 fine that went with it in effect should Eisler ever return to American shores.

Justices Douglas and Clark took no part in the court's decision.

On May 6, 1949, after his case had been argued before the high court, Eisler filed the United States on the Polish ship Batory.

On June 27, the high court directed that the case should be left off its docket "until a direction to the contrary shall issue."

In asking the court to dismiss the case for all time, Solicitor General Philip Perlman pointed out that Eisler has accepted public office in the Soviet zone of Germany "and otherwise given further evidence, if any were needed, of his intention to stay out of the jurisdiction of this court."

Three Hundred Sixty Five Days Really Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day is not just a holiday for people to have a vacation from their work or an overabundance of food on their table. The last Thursday of November has been set aside for Thanksgiving Day as a reminder that we should be thankful for so many, many reasons. The first things that come to our mind are what we own in our every-day life — our home, family, car, money or job. We may even remember to be grateful for our good health, or the democratic country in which we live, and the freedoms which we enjoy.

We must really stop to consider the significance of the holiday we celebrate. Think again of the Pilgrim fathers who settled our land and how thankful they were to have a home and food to eat. That is the true meaning of the word. It took so very little for them to be grateful, and today, when we have everything, we still are looking for more. Every one of the three hundred sixty five days of the year should be "thanksgiving" days for us. We, who are lucky, should think of more unfortunate people of other lands who do not enjoy the privileges that we take so much for granted. Then when Thanksgiving Day comes around each year, it will only mean a time for "extra" thanks and not used only as a means of pleasure.

Must Get Approval To Open New Mine

State Supreme Court Ruling Is Made On Issue; Six-To-One Decision

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22 — (INS)—The state supreme court ruled Monday that all mine operators must obtain approval of the State Sanitary Water board before opening a new mine, reopening an old one or continuing to operate an existing mine.

In a six-to-one decision, with Justice Charles A. Jones dissenting, the appellate court reversed the Dauphin county common pleas court and upheld the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The lower tribunal has refused to grant a permanent injunction against Robert J. Black and his wife, Louise Lohr Black, and Bernard J. Goebel from operating a mine in Westmoreland county.

It was asserted that the mine operators had failed to comply with a section of an act providing for obtaining of clearance from the water board.

Majority Decision
The majority opinion written by Chief Justice George W. Maxey referred to the act of 1945, declaring:

"It clearly prohibits the opening of any new coal mine, or the reopening of an old coal mine or continuance in operation of any existing coal mine until a plan of mine drainage had been approved by the commonwealth, acting through its official agency."

The decision added:

"In order to avoid the peril of having its streams polluted, the commonwealth assumes that the drainage from every coal mine is a potential menace to the purity of nearby waters."

Millions of human inhabitants of the earth are unaware that they are living on a round world.

Jamison Reports On Convention

Assistant To City Solicitor Takes Part In Convention At State College

Robert Jamison, assistant to the city solicitor, who represented the city at the convention of Municipal Finance Officers which was held Friday and Saturday at Penn State college, reported convention proceedings to members of city council Monday. In his opinion, Attorney Jamison said the convention, the largest during the past several years, was a success.

Attorney Jamison told the convention of New Castle's experience with State Act 481, which provides for the earned income act. He described the survey made by experts of the Institute of Local Government prior to adoption of the earned income ordinance.

Mr. Jamison stated the representatives of other cities, boroughs and townships expressed themselves as confronted with tax problems similar to those which confront this city.

He said some expressed the opinion that State Act 481 be kept, although there has been some agitation to change the law and also some agitation to repeal the act.

Mr. Jamison said that he was informed by a representative from Scranton that two councilmen for election and both in favor of the wage tax were returned to office, while their opponents were defeated. "This was an indication of how the taxpayers felt toward the act," the representative informed Attorney Jamison.

Relative to the New Castle election, Attorney Jamison said he stated at the convention that the wage tax law was not the only issue here, adding there were several issues, hence the defeat suffered in the council race was not indicative of feeling against the earned income tax law.

Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving Day, as every school child knows, got its inception when the Pilgrims, grateful for their first harvest, set apart a day of thanksgiving in 1621. The Massachusetts Bay Colony began observance of Thanksgiving in 1630, Connecticut in 1639 and the Dutch in New Netherlands (New York) in 1644. The Continental Congress appointed Thanksgiving Days during the Revolutionary war (except in 1777). President George Washington declared Thursday, Nov. 26, 1789, as Thanksgiving Day. President James Madison, following a resolution by Congress, declared a day of Thanksgiving at conclusion of the War of 1812. President Abraham Lincoln appointed the last Thursday of November, 1864, as Thanksgiving Day and this day was observed as such until 1939 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt proclaimed an earlier date. A joint resolution of Congress in 1941 declared the fourth Thursday in November a national legal holiday and it has so been observed ever since.

Painting Bee At First U.P. Church

Men and women, numbering 81, took part in the painting bee Monday evening at the First United Presbyterian church. The painting bee will be continued this evening starting at 7 o'clock.

Charles McNickle, M. Carlton Smith and Scott McCaslin, three experienced painters of the congregation, supervised the painting of 17 rooms in the church Monday. Albert Genkinger is general chairman of the committee that is responsible for improving the rooms. A group of high school girls from the senior department volunteered as baby sitters.

Members of the Etta Gilfillan and Rebekah Browne classes, composed of adult women, served a refreshing lunch at the evening's close.

The usual Indian wampum belt contained 11 strands of 180 beads.

Vice President And Bride Stop At Sea Island, Ga.

SEA ISLAND, Ga., Nov. 22 — (INS)—Vice President Barkley and his bride relaxed today at Sea Island, their honeymoon jaunt to a lovely "Shangri-La" ended at the tiny resort colony's Cloister Hotel. The 71-year-old "Veep" and Mrs. Barkley, the former Jane Rucker Hadley of St. Louis, arrived in Sea Island yesterday after a trip which began last Friday when they were married.

Barkley, admitting that the vacation spot definitely was their "Shangri-La," said he and his 38-year-old bride "will spend several days of our honeymoon in this Georgia resort. Where we will go or what we will do after that is hard to say."

(Miami source indicated the nation's number one newly-weds may visit Sarasota, Palm Beach and Miami Beach after leaving Sea Island. They said the "Veep" and Mrs. Barkley also may visit President Truman's vacation hideaway at the Key West, Fla., Naval station.)

Library To Close On Thanksgiving

Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, announced today that the Free Public Library will be closed on Thursday, November 24.

The Mahoning branch of the library will also be closed on this day.

Thursday's afternoon story hour conducted in the junior department of the library will not be held. Mrs. Walter McKee, junior librarian, will resume the story hour on December 1.

Predict Business Will Slacken During 1950

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Government economists predict today that business conditions will slacken somewhat during 1950 but assert there is little likelihood of any serious dislocation in the nation's economy.

The consensus is that unemployment probably will remain under five million during the peak month in the new year. Top unemployment in 1949 was reached last July when 4,095,000 were out of work.

Economists believe that business spending for capital goods will decline as will production in the steel and auto industries.

About six million cars and trucks are expected to be produced this year but indications are the figure may drop to about five million in 1950.

The general price level probably will be down from this year led by drops in farm produce, but industrial prices are expected to "remain fairly firm."

Business prosperity is expected to be supported from now until next June in red-ink federal spending and the veterans insurance payments starting in January.

Headed for Deficit
The government is headed for a predicted five billion, 500 million dollar deficit and the Veterans Administration is slated to refund two billion, 800 million dollars between January and June.

These will combine to produce inflationary pressures by increasing consumer purchasing power.

Expectations are that during the second half of 1950 there will be a minor slump in the economy. One official said:

"The last half depends a good deal on what the government appropriates during the first half. Defense spending and what the government does about the deficit will have considerable effect on the picture."

"Chances are there will be a slight decline in the second half but it certainly will not be cause for any real concern."

This official also said that it is still possible to achieve President Truman's 300 billion dollar production goal but asserted that it is mainly up to business. He said: "Business policy over profits, wages and prices will have the final say in whether or not that goal is reached. Of course, the government will fit in but it is up to business."

The nation's annual production of goods and services is now running just over 200 billion dollars. The president set the 300 billion goal in his midyear economic reports.

LARGER LOOT OVERLOOKED
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Safe-crackers got the $600, but they overlooked the larger loot.

After lugging an 800-pound safe through two doors of the Pittsburgh Motor Sales company, the yeggs battered the combination off the safe and took $600. But they missed another $1,000 when they threw away some innocent-looking papers, police said.

William Simendinger, owner of the company, said he found the money scattered among papers on the floor.

STOPS LAXATIVES—FEELS BETTER!

"Have been eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN 3 years and it's wonderful! Now I don't ever need a laxative, feel so much better. I've told plenty of others too!" Mrs. Jerry Russell, Route 8, Maryville, Tenn. Many other grateful ALL-BRAN users write the same. You may be helped, too, if constipated due to lack of bulk in the diet; start eating an ounce of crisp, tasty ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water. If not satisfied after 10 days, send empty box to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Life Expectancy Shows Big Increase

Century's Health Progress Shows Americans Live To Be Much Older Than In 1850

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 22.—A century's progress in American health conditions is reflected in an increase in expectation of life at birth from less than 40 years in 1850 to about 67 years today, according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, chief of statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. "Every branch of the medical and sanitary sciences has shared in the unparalleled progress of the past century," he declared, "with the result that the death rate has been greatly reduced and many diseases which once were rampant are now either under control or well on their way to control. We now enjoy a vastly higher standard of living—more abundant and better food, shelter, clothing, educational and recreational facilities."

Gain in Longevity
The gain in longevity was at a much more rapid rate during the second half of the century than during the first half. For example, the gain of 27 years for white males is made up of a 10-year gain from 1850 to 1900 and a 17-year gain since then, and the 30-year gain in the case of white females divides into a 10½-year increase up to 1900 and 19½ years since that time.

Dr. Dublin is optimistic as to further gains in length of life. "The medical and sanitary sciences are advancing at a fast pace. Our standards of living are still improving rapidly, and our people have become alert to their stake in sound public health and medical care," he points out. "With the expectation of life of the American people now near the Biblical three-score-and-ten, there is good reason to expect a life expectancy of 75 years within the next generation."

Pliny, taking a rather severe view of iron because of its use in weapons, wrote in 77 A.D.: "Nature, with her usual benevolence has limited (its) powers by inflicting upon it the punishment of rust."

Big Game Hunters Warned Of Fires

State Department Of Forests And Waters Cautions Hunters To Be Careful

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—With Pennsylvania's big-game hunting season just around the corner, the Department of Forests and Waters today cautioned hunters to be careful with fire in the forest areas of Pennsylvania.

of game, have caused devastating forest fires in the past. O. Ben Gipple, chief forest fire warden warned sportsmen contemplating a hunting trip to the deep woods.

Unremitting caution on the part of hunters and outdoorsmen will be necessary, Gipple said, to help conserve the state's forest resources.

Carelessness with fires and burning brush is high on the list of causes for forest fires, experts in the department revealed. Such negligence must be reduced if Pennsylvania is to forge ahead and regain its position as one of the leading lumber producing states in the nation.

It is wealth . . . that cannot be stolen.
It is fortune . . . that cannot be bought.
It is honor and character, impossible to imitate, impossible to cheapen.
It is integrity.
And it is pride.
A man feels it when he labors with his own hands, and offers his product for sale. His name is on that product. His GOOD NAME is born and sustained with that product.
A company is no different from a man.
If it has a good name . . . it has wealth untold, honor and character unsullied, integrity unbroken.
It has pride . . . in itself, in its products, in its GOOD NAME.
Let no one tell you that there is ever an excuse for the loss of a good name.
Not cost, not hardship, not the lure of temporary profit.
NOT EVEN WAR.
A good name is an obligation, an article of faith. The penalty for breaking that faith is quick and automatic. The reward for keeping it is long enduring.
For the people will always know how to tell a good name.
A good name is a beacon. It stands above the treacherous darkness, the shifting waters, the uncertain shore.
It is a guide and a refuge.
A good name is a blessing . . . to him who has it . . . and to him who must put his trust in it.
A good name is a man's . . . or a company's . . . conscience.

The minute you see one of the above names on a product, you immediately accept that product as being GOOD . . . a product that you can fully Depend on for quality and long, satisfactory service. These are just a few of the many Good Names you'll find on the products at this store.

We at Bolotin's, pride ourselves on the fact that we too, have a Good Name . . . and for the past forty-three years thousands of homemakers have depended on us . . . on our products and on our fair dealing. If you have never made a purchase from Bolotin's, we invite you to do so. If you do, you too, will come to Depend on Bolotin's for quality products at the lowest prices consistent with sound business practice.

You'll find this to be a friendly store! A store where you are just as welcome to shop around at leisure, as you are to buy. You'll never be harassed or "pressured" into buying something you don't want. Our experienced sales force will be glad to assist you with your homefurnishing problems, without obligation. Arrest Is Made In Baby Slaying

Man Is Held In California
In Death Attack On Baby Girl

FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 22.—(INS)—A moody, marijuana-smoking, 180-pound cotton picker was held today by Fresno county authorities on charges of savagely assaulting and slaying a baby girl near a Huron dance hall.

Authorities said the suspect admitted he removed the child from her parents' car but claimed he "blacked out" afterwards and knew nothing of the slaying.

The accused slayer was identified as Paul Gutierrez, 25, who said he makes his home at Laverne in Southern California.

His arrest climaxed an intensive investigation set off with the finding of the ravaged body of the victim, 17-month-old Josephine Yanez. The crime was described as the "most horrible in the annals of Fresno county."

The baby girl was kidnapped from the auto of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yanez of Huron, early Sunday morning.

The car was parked in front of the dance hall where the parents had gone to pick up the sister of Mrs. Yanez, Gloria Moya.

Russia May Not Have Atomic Bomb

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The Paris newspaper Le Monde quoted Gen. Omar N. Bradley today as implying that the Russians may not have the atomic bomb after all.

Bradley, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, was quoted by the newspaper as saying in Washington:

"The only statement made by the United States regarding Soviet possession of the nuclear secret was that an 'atomic explosion' had been produced in Russia."

"Nobody said this was a bomb," Bradley, according to Le Monde, also said.

"The new fact of an atomic explosion in Russia caused no radical change in the defense plans of continental Europe or the United States."

Approximately 1,000,000,000 working years are lost by those who died of tuberculosis in a year.

Hickory P.T.A. Has Clever Hobby Show

Many Hobbies Displayed At P.T.A.
Meeting: Plan To Discuss
Consolidation

Members of the Hickory P.T.A. met recently in the Eastbrook school building, with Mrs. William Knight, president, conducting the meeting.

Mrs. Knight announced—that there is to be a meeting in December in the Princeton high school to discuss the problem of consolidation of the Eastbrook, Harlansburg, Portersville, and Princeton schools. Those schools will take part in the meeting. The State of Pennsylvania plans to make some move toward the solution of this problem, as there is a shortage of space in the schools.

Mrs. Ronald Sickafuse and Mrs. Garvin Hanna were appointed to attend the P.T.A. council held last night in the Y.W.C.A.

Hobby Talks

A "Hobby Show" was the feature of the evening, with Mrs. George Pontius in charge. The speaker of the event was Robert Brown of New Castle, who told of his autographs and how he has received them from all over the world.

A collection of figurines was explained by Mrs. Arthur Lutton of New Castle. She described how she makes and paints the figures herself. Both speakers gave interesting and educational talks.

Many fascinating and unusual hobbies were on display for the evening.

'Dust Or Destiny' Film Will Be Shown

Sermons From Science Film Will Be Shown By Moody Bible Institute And Local C.B.M.C.

New Castle residents, along with residents of the county will be enabled to see one of the most outstanding religious films ever produced Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Cathedral.

The film, "Dust or Destiny," which was produced in the Moody Institute of Science at Los Angeles, Calif., is being co-sponsored by the New Castle Christian Business Men's committee.

The film will depict many heretofore unknown scientific phenomena such as the reader of the bat and the flight of the plover. Mysteries of the universe ranging from bats that use radar to guide them in night flying, fish that lay eggs on dry land and close up of the human heart will be seen.

The showing of the picture will be prefaced by a musical program directed by Rev. F. D. Marshall of the City Mission, with Ernie Branstetter at the Cathedral organ. A representative of Moody Institute will introduce the film.

PRR Passenger Train Resumes Operations

Local From Orrville To Pittsburgh
Back On Schedule After Short Layoff

Pennsylvania railroad passenger trains No. 474 and 475, local from Orrville to Pittsburgh, have been reinstated upon the conclusion of the coal strike, it is announced by Marion Street, assistant superintendent of the Lake division.

The train passes through New Castle southbound for Pittsburgh at 10:58 a. m., and northbound for Orrville and connections for Columbus at 7:50 p. m.

Operations of the trains were suspended when the government ordered railroads to cut down on the use of coal during the coal strike.

Two Mercer County Servicemen Killed

SHARON, Nov. 22.—Two Mercer county servicemen were killed in separate auto accidents in Virginia Saturday.

Sgt. Clayton Brickley, 31, Marine recruiter from Sharon, was killed when another auto struck his parked machine in front of his home in Little Creek, Va. A brother, Dyke Brickley, Jr., of New Jersey, sitting in the car with the sergeant, was critically injured.
Brickley is survived by his parents here and his wife and four children in Little Creek.

Seaman George Nightwine, 20, of Grove City, was returning to his post at the Norfolk naval base when his car was involved in an accident. He was killed instantly.

Proclamation

All residents of the City of New Castle are urged to support the Christmas Seal sale of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society. The seal sale, to raise funds for the tuberculosis control program of the society opens Monday, Nov. 21, 1949, and continues until Christmas.

Because of its communicable nature, tuberculosis must be recognized as a public health program of grave concern to every member of the community," the Mayor said in issuing the proclamation. "Every hidden case must be found if we are to prevent the spread of this insidious disease. If we co-operate with all future X-ray surveys such as have been conducted during the past summer, we can find these hidden cases and save many lives."

Therefore I, the mayor of the City of New Castle, do recommend that the people of New Castle show their hearty approval of the work of the society in the interest of our health, by the generous purchase of Christmas seals.

Signed:
MAYOR JOHN F. HAVEN,
Mayor of New Castle.

War Brides Are Made Citizens

Twenty Young Brides Receive Citizenship At Naturalization Court

YULE PARTY OF EMPLOYEES PLANNED

Twenty comely young war brides during the late war and who have since come to this country to make their home in the land of their adoption, became full-fledged American citizens Monday when they were admitted to citizenship at a sessions of naturalization court held in Court Room Two.

Judge John G. Lamoree presided at the session and the candidates were questioned by Carl Stappeler of the Department of Justice, Pittsburgh.

There were 23 applicants in all, one of whom had his application postponed.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Plans are now under way for the annual Christmas party of the court house employees which will take place on Tuesday evening, December 20, in a local tea room.

A. Lewis Conn, chief clerk of the Permanent Registration Bureau, will be general chairman and the committees on arrangements are as follows:

Program—Heleen Haug, chairman, Allan Thomas, Jane Koszela, Jean Porter and Charles D. Ross.

Dinner—Elmer D. Nesbitt, chairman, Mary Davis and Stella Plonka.

Decorations—Mrs. Evelyn McKibben, chairman, Delice Ticeone and Celia Katz.

A fine turkey dinner is being arranged—with all the trimmings—and there will be dancing after the dinner and program.

SENTENCES HANDED DOWN

Two men were before Judge Walter W. Braham for sentence Monday, and another, who has been incarcerated in the county jail, was placed on parole.

Blair E. Ferguson, of Beaver county, charged with operating a public carrier without a state license, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and the costs of the case.

Roland Patell, a service man of Pottsville, Mass., who was charged with robbing a local taxi-driver, Charles Clements, Jr., of $235 and his watch, and who also took Clements' taxicab, was sentenced to the Glenn Mills Training School, Glenn Mills, Pa., for an indeterminate term. Patell and a local youth held up Clements last week after having him drive them into Union township. The local youth, who figured in the holdup was previously sentenced to the George Junior Republic at Grove City.

Bennie McLaurin, who was sentenced to a year in the county jail on May 27, for aggravated assault and battery after he had shot and seriously wounded William Weidenhoff, was placed on parole. He was ordered to pay the costs in the case and make restitution of $100 to Weidenhoff to help pay for medical and hospital care.

YOUTHS MARRYING YOUNG

Of eight marriage licenses issued at the court house Saturday, the average age of the grooms was 23 years and the brides just a little over 19. The average was raised to the above age by one couple who were not mere kids. The groom in this instance 33 and his bride 26. In the other instances, only one of the brides had reached the age of maturity.

REMARriage OF DIVORCEE

"I am 20 years old and have been divorced. I am planning to remarry and as I did not have a church wedding before, I would like to have a quiet wedding at our church for my marriage. I know that some churches do not permit divorcees to marry in the church and as yet I have not asked the pastor. Before I do so, I would like to know whether or not it would be correct to have such a wedding. (2) Some of my friends want to give me a shower. Would this be all right considering that I have been married before? (3) Should I send out announcements for my second marriage? (4) What colors are correct to wear and may I have attendants at my wedding?"

Answer: If the pastor of your church has no objection to your remarriage, you may have a church ceremony. It is a question of church law and not etiquette.

(2) It is not usual for a divorcee to have showers for her second wedding, however sometimes intimate friends do thus honor the bride.

(3) You may send out announcements of your second marriage, if you wish.

(4) You may wear any color or type of dress, other than white or traditional wedding dress, both of which are reserved for maiden brides. And, too, you must have no attendants, other than a maid or matron-of-honor, since only maiden brides may have bridesmaids.

Jilted Suitor Shoots Woman To Death, Then Tries Suicide

BROCKTON, Mass., Nov. 22.—(INS)—A jilted suitor shot and killed a woman employed by the Brockton Enterprise-Times Monday, fled down an alley and then turned the revolver on himself in a suicide attempt.

The victim was Miss Muriel Beal, 25, of Whitman, who was employed in the bookkeeping department of the newspaper.

She was felled by three slugs fired at point blank range in front of the newspaper office while the street was crowded with shoppers and office employees on their lunch hour.

Police said her assailant was Robert S. Lundin, 33, who has lived to the Brockton YMCA since last year.

The girl was dead on arrival at Brockton hospital. The man was not expected to live.

Entertain Almira Home Residents

At the Almira Home the residents were given a very interesting entertainment recently by John Krisko, traveling agent for the foreign department of Mellon Bank in Butler county, who was accompanied by his daughter, Patty Beach, who has just returned from Mexico City and is now making her home in New York City.

Both are expert magicians and were ably assisted by a companion magician, Mr. Krisko recently returned from a trip abroad, which includes visits in Russia and other European countries.

A rolling mill that rolled iron into desired shapes was patented by Henry Cort of England in 1783.

LUCKY NUMBER

WAYNESBURG, Pa.—Kathryn Marie Clark, one day old, already had a lucky number picked out for herself today. Official records of the maternity ward of Greene County Memorial Hospital here showed Kathryn was born at 11 minutes after 11, Nov. 11. She is the second child, but the first daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clark of Carmichaels, Pa.

Rabbits may have up to 20 offspring a year.

OPEN FOR HUNTING

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Part of the huge Indiantown Gap Military Reservation will be open for deer hunting during the season November 28 through December 9, it was announced today by State Adj. Gen. F. A. Weber.

The area to be opened to hunters, he explained, lies north of the crest of Second mountain and is known variously as Stony Creek, Battling Run and Camp Shand Reservation.

Estate Survey Aims At Tax Collection

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—A survey of an estimated 25,000 estates will be launched January 1 by Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn, with the cooperation of county registers of wills.

He expects millions of dollars in unpaid taxes may be reaped by the commonwealth after the survey is completed.

"We have no idea how much actually is at stake because no recent audits have been conducted by this office in previous administrations," Heyburn reported.

He said it was to be expected that many estates would yield nothing but emphasized that he believed there were many others which would produce some tax revenue.

A four-year-old act of the General Assembly, principally aimed at the $30,000,000 Henrietta Garrett estate in Philadelphia, allows the in an estate via escheat if legal commonwealth to take all money heirs cannot be located. A companion act allows the state to impose an 80 per cent tax on money going to first cousins from estates unsettled for seven years after a person has died intestate.

Assessed $1,500 FINE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Former Director of Supplies and Purchases Charles E. Grakelow was fined $1,500 Monday for illegally selling flowers to the city while he was a public servant.

Judge Curtis Bok imposed the fine after the 70-year-old florist earlier had pleaded no defense to charges that he violated the penal code in the sale of $7,133 worth of flowers to the city from his shop.

Other charges are pending against Grakelow, however. The state has accused him of forgery, embezzlement, and felonious falsification of records during his term as supplies and purchases director.

Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Pockets—which are having a devil-may-care fashion season—will be cut down to size and put in their place next spring.

Designers, tired of pocket priority on clothes, will place flap or split pockets either just above or just below the waist. Furthermore, pockets will be less conspicuous and hardly big enough to hold a silver dollar.

Adding insult to the pocket's injury, high-fashion will relegate them to third place in style importance, with sleeves first and pleats second.

Even the handiest fashions get out of hand!

Big Strikes Boost State Relief Roles

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The State Department of Public Assistance Monday reported relief expenditures during October to $10,975,000, including $3,741,000 contributed by the federal government.

The total cost of the direct and indirect effect of the coal and steel strikes was estimated by the department at three quarters of a million dollars.

During the last reported week, the DPA said, relief rolls were increased by 1,541 persons pushing the total to 420,553 indigents. At the beginning of the year there were 302,867 persons dependent on state aid.

The DPA reported that grants during last month included $3,247,000 for old age assistance, $4,013,000 for aid to dependent children, $3,097,000 for general assistance and $618,000 for blind pensions.

The federal government's money was used to help defray a share of the costs of old age assistance and aid to dependent children.

No Decision On Issue Of Miners Welfare Fund

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The trustees of the United Mine Workers Welfare Fund apparently avoided a showdown Monday on the issue of spending current revenues of the fund in the absence of a coal wage contract.

The three man board met for three hours and then issued a brief six line statement which indicated that no decisions were reached today.

The statement said a number of questions arose "which will require additional consultation and some study by the trustees before determination of the issues can be reached." The statement added:

Meeting Recalled
"It was accordingly agreed that the meeting would recess to be reconvened, if at all possible, within the next ten day period, the exact time to be subject to the convenience of the trustees."

Former Federal Judge Charles J. Dawson, newly appointed industry trustee, told newsmen after the session that no votes were taken. He left the meeting with Senator Bridges (R) N. H., neutral trustee.

United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis, union trustee, declined comment on the lengthy session—the first attended by Dawson.

Earlier, it had been anticipated that a decision would be reached on whether to unfreeze some 13 or 14 million dollars collected by the fund since the expiration of the old contract last June 30. A decision on this issue could influence the making of a new contract.

Officials Predict Saving On Potato Supports For 1950

Agriculture Officials Predict 1950 Losses From Supporting Potatoes Lower

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Federal farm officials predict that the government probably will save "several million dollars" as a result of its 1950 potato program calling for lower price supports and reduced acreage allotments.

At the same time, a moderate slash in the income of commercial growers is expected.

The agriculture department's 1950 tuber program provides for a national commercial allotment about seven percent below this year's planting goal and price supports about 12 cents a bushel under 1949.

Agriculture experts figure that the government's losses from supporting 1950 potatoes probably will be "several million dollars" below those for the 1949 crop year because of these two features.

Dropped More In 1948

The department is faced with a prospective loss of 60 million dollars from support operations on the 1949 crop but dropped nearly four times that amount dropping prices of the 1949 potato harvest.

The government will deny price support to farmers who plant more than their allotted acreage next year. There is no ceiling on the volume of potatoes grown within that acreage but also farmers must approve whatever marketing controls the government deems necessary, as an additional condition for support.

These marketing agreements are designed to bolster grover prices and keep inferior tubers off the market.

Agriculture Secretary Brannan, in announcing the potato program, estimated that next year's support prices will average about $1.60 per hundredweight or 96 cents per bushel. This compared with $1.80 per hundredweight or about $1.08 per bushel this year.

Brannan established a 1950 commercial acreage allotment of 1,137,800 acres—85,300 acres below this year's goal.

EASY WAY TO WASH GLOVES

Gloves can add that smart immaculate touch to your outfit only when they are cared for properly. Wilted, dingy looking gloves, or gloves in need of repair will attract more attention than no gloves at all.

It is easy to wash and keep gloves looking fresh. The secret is to wash them before they get too dirty. If soil is allowed to accumulate on gloves, it not only comes off on hands and clothes, but is difficult to remove.

White doeskin, pigskin and capeskin gloves will require more frequent washing than beige, gray or darker colors. However, any leather gloves should be washed when wet so smudges appear.

To wash gloves, start with a good thick suds made with mild soap flakes in lukewarm water. Squeeze the suds through the gloves and until they are clean. Pigskin and capeskin gloves may be washed on the hands, but doeskin and suedes are very tender when wet so should be handled gently. When the inside of gloves is soiled, turn them inside out and wash. Rinse gloves in clear lukewarm water, then make another light lukewarm suds and squeeze through the gloves. Do not rinse out this last suds.

Roll the wet gloves in a turkish towel to take up excess water. Blow into gloves to separate the fingers, then lay gloves on a towel, away from direct heat, to dry.

When gloves are almost dry, massage or finger press them. Gently work the leather between the thumb and fingers to make it soft and pliable. Allow gloves to finish drying. If gloves have dried stiff, roll them in a dampened

Church Council Dinner Meeting Enjoyed Monday

New Castle Council of Churches officers and executives met Monday evening in the First Methodist church for the semi-annual dinner meeting. The splendid dinner was served by the women of the church. Following the meal, the regular business session of the council was transacted. During the meeting the executive group, Mrs. David McCreary invited the council to conduct its next meeting at the Epworth Methodist church. The change was suggested due to the lack of parking facilities near the St. Paul's Lutheran church on Monday evenings. The Lutheran church is the regular meeting place of the council. The invitation was accepted.

Discussion took place during the evening concerning the amendment of the constitution. Following considerable thought, the matter was placed on the table. Various other subjects were aired before the meeting adjourned.

November's dinner meeting of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers society proved one of the most interesting held in some time, with Carl Mendenhall, field engineer of the Allied Engineering Co., as the speaker.

Nomination of officers took place last evening, and the election will take place at the December meeting of the following having been named: President, Roger Robinson, Robinson Ventilating Co.; Zelenopole, for president; James M. Miles, American Cyanamid Co.; vice president; Tom Casey, Penn Power Co.; secretary; and Clare S. Alborn, Matthews Conveyor Co., Ellwood City, treasurer.

Mr. Mendenhall spoke on the measurement of heat in industrial operations, and the principles involved in control instruments, particularly in regard to the regulation of temperatures in kilns.

Students of the extension course in ceramics, which meets in the Senior high school, were guests last evening, and there was an extended discussion period at the close of Mr. Mendenhall's talk.

The Knights of Columbus will have their regular meeting in the K. of C. hall, 349 1/2 East Washington street, Wednesday at 8:30 o'clock, with grand knight James T. Carey presiding. Final plans for the Memorial mass and quarterly Communion will be made in St. Mary's church, Sunday at 8 o'clock, followed by a Communion breakfast in the church basement.

ROUTE 224 ACCIDENT
Ford truck and sedan were damaged shortly before noon Monday at the junction of Glenview Avenue, Union township and Route 224, according to State police. No persons were injured.

The accident was caused when police report, Frank H. Shuler, 25, Miller avenue, R. D. 2, driving a truck and traveling from Glenview avenue, struck the sedan of John Bonosio, Jr., 31, 807 Pollock avenue.

Sodality Plans For Installation Of New Officers On Thursday, December 15

St. Joseph's Sodality held their regular meeting recently in St. Joseph's church hall, prefect, Mary Stoga in charge. Father Hoppe opened with prayer.

New officers for 1950 were elected: prefect, Mary Heibley; vice prefect, Mary Paegley; secretary, Eleanor Klaber; treasurer, Betty Heibley. Installation of new officers will be on December 15.

Josephine Stoga, Eucharistic chairman gave a talk on Thanksgiving day. Fr. Hoppe spoke about the Sodality triduum. Mary Heibley, Apostolic chairman gave a quiz on the Catholic faith.

Marcella Klaber conducted a word game, the prize going to Mary Heibley.

Plans are being made for a Christmas party to be held Thursday, December 15, at 7:30 o'clock. The committee will be announced later.

Christmas carols were sung, bringing the meeting to a close.

Gov. Thurmond To Head Conference

BILOXI, Miss., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, defeated states' rights presidential candidate, was rated the favorite today to become chairman of the southern governors' conference at Biloxi.

States' righters already have appeared to be a powerful bloc at the Mississippi gathering. Gov. Fielding Wright of the latter state was Thurmond's running mate in the last presidential election.

Political observers believe Thurmond will campaign next year for the senate seat now held by Olin D. Johnston (D) S. C., and that James F. Byrnes will re-enter public life to seek the governorship.

MARKS BIRTHDAY

In observance of the 83rd birthday anniversary of Mrs. Ida McCready, pioneer resident, members of her family honored her at a dinner party Saturday afternoon in the Wurttemberg fire hall in Ellwood City.

Attractive decorations were used in the Thanksgiving motif and the table was centered with a large bouquet of American Beauty roses, a gift to the honor guest, from her grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gail McCready. Table appointments, made by Shirley Rider, a granddaughter of the honoree, were carried out in the birthday theme.

An informal social period and the taking of photographs occupied the afternoon hours. Many lovely gifts were presented to Mrs. McCready by her family.

A memorable feature of the event was the attendance of two sets of "four generations," one set was the guest of honor, her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Dindinger, her granddaughter, Mrs. Le Moyne French and her great-grandson, Barry French; the other group was the honoree, her daughter, Mrs. Roy McKim, her grandson, Clyde McKim and her great-grandson, David McKim.

Also attending the festivity was another daughter of the honor guest, Mrs. V. H. Rider, her husband, and her daughter, Shirley, and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Marion, of Ellwood City; Mrs. Clyde McKim, of Beaver; Mr. and Mrs. William Harmon and son Peter, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens and son James, and Mrs. Edward Gur and daughter Susan, of Ashtabula, O.

Tentative Budget Is Being Prepared By Members Of
City Council

OTHER NEWS OF
COUNCIL AFFAIRS

Tentative appropriations for the operation of the city during next year are now in the process of compilation but will be posted in the office of the city clerk December 5 for a 30-day study by the public.

After compilation, each of the city councilmen will receive a copy. The councilmen will peruse the appropriations and providing they are found satisfactory, the budget will stand, awaiting adoption in January.

To raise the needed revenue for city functions, council has indicated a 10 mills tax levy on real estate and a 6½ mills levy on earned income. This year the levy was 10 mills and earned income 10 mills.

According to Mayor John F. Haven, Director of Finance Albert A. Hoyland and other members of council, tentative appropriations have been "out to the bone" for next year.

As soon as the anticipated expenditures are compiled, the budget will be ready for study by the public. Until the compilation is complete no figures are available, it was stated this morning.

OFFERS $500 FOR PLOT

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cox offered a bid of $500 for a triangular plot adjoining their property at Butler avenue and Frew Mill road, according to Robert Jamison, assistant city solicitor. He was directed to present at petition to court asking for approval of the proposed sale of the city-owned lot.

presented an ordinance authorizing execution by the city of a contract with A. Graziano for the grading of as many acres as possible of a 20-acre plot in the Cascade street-Frew Mill road district. It is to be used for circus and recreation purposes. He is to be paid $2,500 for the task. Council sold to Mr. Graziano 14 acres in the Butler avenue, Genkinger street section for $1,500, which sale has been approved by the court.

ARMISTICE DAY PAYMENTS

Armistice Day parade committees today presented for payment bills for band music. The bills were referred to the legal department. They are as follows: $35 to Union Township high school, Shenango high school, Washington Junior high school, Mahoningtown school, Mt. Jackson high school, Croton school and Lawrence Lodge drum and bugle corps.

OTHER MATTERS

South Side Board of Trade by letter formally thanked the mayor and council for cooperation during the Halloween parade.

Upon certification by City Engineer John Z. Street, council awarded payment of $592.81 to Kane street storm sewer between Butler and Old Grandview avenues.

Pending a view by council, so long withheld granting of a permit proposed erection of an advertising to the Ludvig company for the panel board on a building in McKinley street.

City of New Castle today received from the county of Lawrence a bill amounting to $54.39 for delinquent taxes on the New Castle airport. The bill was referred to the legal department.

ADOPT BOSSERT ORDINANCE

Council by ordinance authorized the mayor to make a contract with the Bossert company, on behalf of the city, to determine and settle the property rights of the city and the company, in two unordained streets and alleys of the Seventh ward and accepting the conveyance to the city of a strip of land, about 33 feet wide, to be used for street purposes.

Council also authorized the engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the blacktopping or concreting of the space in the rear of the new city building and also for the driveway on the south side of the structure.

SANTA GETS TWINS' EARLY ORDERS

EARLIEST SANTA of them all is besieged (or is it beseeched?) by two sets of twins as he opens up shop in a Brooklyn, N. Y., store, previewing Christmas toylard for Brooklyn school settlement kiddies. Little Angela Costello whispers to Santa what she hopes she will find in her stocking Christmas morning, while her twin sister, Carmella, and Billy and Sandy Costa, another set of twins, await their turns to tell Santa their hopes for Christmas. NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The most tense and fascinating drama in New York is being lived out on Broadway this season but in United States district court in lower Manhattan. Once more Alger Hiss, who rose like a dazzling meteor in the state department, is on trial for perjury.

But once more, as in Mr. Hiss' first trial which ended last July in a hung jury, the larger issue of perjury with its overtones of espionage and treason is all but lost in the intensely personal duel between Alger Hiss and his accuser, Whittaker Chambers, the former $30,000 a year editor and one-time communist agent.

The dramatic personae is almost the same as during the first trial early last summer. The first act is unrolling in almost identical fashion, with the government's chief witness, Mr. Chambers, on the stand, telling once more his all but incredible story of alleged communist intrigue in high places.

Chambers Unchanged
Mr. Chambers is his old chubby self, in the same neat gray suit, the same white shirt, the same black tie of last summer. In the witness' stand, he shows the same self-possession, the same mastery of the scene, as he did at the first trial.

He speaks in the same clear voice, with the same impersonal infections and with the same quiet assurance. And once more I have the feeling that this man, for good or ill, is the intellectual peer of anyone in the courtroom, even of Alger Hiss, once the white-haired boy of Washington.

Once more the two men avoid looking at each other across the width of the big cold room, paneled to the ceiling with dark wood and flooded now with the melancholy light of early winter. But if the drama and its performers are much the same as in early summer, at least one of the chief protagonists has not remained unchanged.

Gone Is Lustrous Charm
Gone is the lustrous charm that has set Alger Hiss apart from other men for years. This smiling, fabled charm was as solid and tangible a reality during the first trial as the famous pumpkin papers.

But it is gone today. It is difficult for this thin man, with the drawn, tired face, to summon up an occasional half smile. There is no buoyancy left in this defendant who exuded smiling self-confidence throughout his first trial.

The boyishness, always one of Mr. Hiss' distinguishing characteristics, has been squeezed out of the man in the intervening months. Always a stand-in for the thin man, Mr. Hiss looks even thinner now, almost painfully so.

This still young man, who once rose to be an assistant secretary of state, looks somber now, and deflated. It is almost as if the shock of that hung jury—eight for conviction, four for acquittal—had forced on Mr. Hiss for the first time the realization that this trial is a matter of life and death, a grim certainty until the last juror is polled.

Tense In Second Trial
He, too, wears the same Oxford gray suit, the same white shirt, the same dark tie. But he is tense during this second trial; not relaxed as at the first.

As at the first trial, Priscilla Hiss, petite and precise, sits beside her husband. And though she is not mentioned in the indictment, she, too, no less than her husband, is on trial in this court. For the government charges that she copied on the Hiss typewriter the secret state department documents which it alleges her husband purloined for communist purposes.

This woman, whose indomitable will and strength are mirrored in her small, intense face, listens to every word with almost violent concentration.

She, too, is dressed in quiet gray, a suit with a seven-eighths length coat and a small gray felt hat, with a darker gray wing as its only ornament. Once more her hands are encased in spotless white gloves.

Perhaps her lips are a bit more pursed, a little tighter than before. But she does not show the strain or seem as weary as does her husband.

So the show goes on, an American tragedy peculiar to our times.

HONORED BY SHERMAN
John C. Reamer, boilerman third class, USN, 1132 Hemlock street, is among those that received a "well done" from Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, newly appointed chief of naval operations.

Before taking over as operations chief, Sherman was commander of the Sixth Task Fleet, of which Reamer is a member.

A system of push buttons operated by a single engineer and two assistants control the complicated machinery of the motor liner Batory, replacing rows of boilers and large engineer staff.

Chambers Repeats
That Alger Hiss Was Fellow Communist

Testifies In Federal Court That
Hiss Turned Over Secret
Documents To Him

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Whittaker Chambers repeated firmly in Federal court Monday that Alger Hiss was once a fellow Communist who turned over secret government documents to him in 1938 for transmission to a Soviet spy ring.

Chambers testified at Hiss' second perjury trial that he received the documents from the defendant at the latter's home in Washington, that he had them photographed and returned the originals later the same night—sometime after midnight—to Hiss, then an official of the State department.

Priscilla Hiss, the defendant's wife, typed copies of some of the documents, according to Chambers. The star witness for the prosecution declared Hiss was such a disciplined member of the Communist party, he obtained the party's "O.K." before he took a previously held position in the justice department.

Tried To Persuade Him

Chambers also said Hiss tried to persuade him not to quit the Communist party in 1938.

The portly, bland-faced Chambers, speaking slowly and calmly, said he received the government documents by hand from Hiss under an arrangement made by Hiss in agreements with Colonel Boris Bykov.

Bykov was described by Chambers as a former head of the Soviet spy ring in this country. Chambers said the arrangement was made in the Port Arthur restaurant in New York's Chinatown in January or February, 1936. He related the story of the meeting in considerable detail, as he did in the first trial which ended in jury disagreement last July.

Hiss and his wife, Priscilla, sitting side by side, listened closely to Chambers' testimony—their faces impassive.

Coffee Situation
Reports Are Given

U.S. Experts Discuss Reported
Coffee Shortage; Insist No
Drastic Shortage Now

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The Commerce department indicated today that a world-wide coffee shortage with resulting high prices probably will continue for the next few years.

But a departmental study said there should be no real change in supplies from Brazil, the largest coffee producer, at least until after next June.

Two commodity experts, Albert M. Prosterman and Alice M. Taylor, noted in the official publication that the shortage stems directly from coffee production cutbacks started during the depression years. They declared:

Unfavorable Weather
"The extraordinary unfavorable weather conditions during the first half of the current decade, the immediate reason for the drop in production, tended to obscure the very important fact that basically the trend in production was downward."

"However, if drought conditions of a serious nature do exist at present in Brazil it should not directly affect availability for the rest of 1949 or the first six months of 1950."

The Brazilian drought and, to a lesser extent, recent floods in Guatemala have been reflected in an extremely unsteady coffee market in this country.

No Immediate Shortage

Agriculture department experts insist that there is no immediate prospect of a drastic coffee shortage. But such assurances have had little effect in checking a sharp rise in coffee prices or consumer hoarding in some areas.

The experts estimated availability of green coffee in Brazil, including stocks and production as of September 1, 1949, at 16,200,000 bags.

This quantity less a three million bag reserve for Brazilian port stocks at the end of June, 1950, is in excess of the quantity imported by the United States from Brazil in the period September, 1948, to July, 1949.

But it is still under total Brazilian coffee exports to all destinations in the same period.

Ermine fur is expensive, not because weasels are rare, but because they are very difficult to trap due to their cunning and keen wit.

New Castle Woman Back; Tells Of Three Years Spent In Japan

Three years of living in Japan and four trips across the Pacific have given Mrs. Alice P. Cleaver, this city, a wealth of information — not usually found in history books.

Now home again at 355 East North street, Mrs. Cleaver, wife of First Lieut. Harold J. Cleaver of the 71st Engineer Survey Liaison, believes that her "Journey to the Orient" was an education in itself.

With her husband and son Richard, Mrs. Cleaver departed three years ago for the land of the Rising Sun. After a year and half, she returned home alone, and within a short time departed again for the Far East.

Her son in the meantime returned to the States and enlisted in the U. S. navy.

Lieut. and Mrs. Cleaver made their home in the Sano hotel in Tokyo, Japan. Lieut. Cleaver was assigned to responsible duties as transportation and supply officer of the U. S. army detachment of the 71st Engineers.

Time lay heavy upon the hands of Mrs. Cleaver. She decided to do something about it.

Enrolls In School

At first she enrolled at the Sogetsu school—a school teaching Japanese flower arrangements or (ikebana). Classes were held daily, and on June 30, 1949, Mrs. Cleaver was graduated with high honors. Honor students were distinguished with the conferring of names of flowers, and Mrs. Cleaver was known as "Brilliant Star".

A post-graduate course permitted her later to teach the class, and she also received a certificate and pin.

With this knowledge, Mrs. Cleaver is able to reproduce actual miniature Japanese scenes of Bankei (pronounced Bon-kay). She has enough material here to last for one year. Simplicity is the keynote taught in the school. The Japanese emphasize the arrangements, rather than the flower; and each placement of a flower is symbolic of some earthly thing.

With her husband, Mrs. Cleaver enrolled in the Troop and Education Center night school. Here they learned the Japanese language well enough so that they could shop in stores and to carry on brief conversations.

Tells About People

People in Japan, as a whole, are friendly, but they do not show great emotion, Mrs. Cleaver said. "Definitely the Japanese are trying to live like Americans. One can see it in their dress and in the habits of the younger generation."

What about Hiroshima, have the Japanese forgotten that memorable day?

Hiroshima is a city dedicated to everlasting peace. Every year on August 6—the date of the atomic bombing—the population prays for peace. There is no bitterness; in fact there is usually the attitude of relief with the realization that the war ended with the bombing. And so, Hiroshima, City of Peace, is today a city where crops are growing and the grass again green with trees and shrubbery sprouting.

Shown here is Mrs. Alice P. Cleaver, 355 East North street, New Castle, who has recently returned from Japan. While in Japan with her husband who is stationed there, Mrs. Cleaver attended an oriental school on flower arrangement. She is making one of her arrangements in the picture which is known as an "upright Moribana". Simplicity is the key of the Japanese design using three principal flowers representing Shin (Heaven), Soe (Man) and Kikae (Earth). The tiger seen in the background is a hand-painted picture on silk.

"Japan is a beautiful, colorful country," Mrs. Cleaver reminisced, "so much so that the beauty looks almost artificial. In cherry blossom time, Japan is a fragrant, pink haze. Their trees, shrubbery and plants are unique; their shrines are a thing of great artistic beauty."

Asked if the people fear Communism, Mrs. Cleaver answered "No. With General MacArthur in Japan, the people respect his command and obey orders. His word is law. Since MacArthur's command, more democratic ideas have been adopted by the people, an outstanding improvement is the privilege of voting for women, and women police on the force."

Typhoons Are Frequent

Typhoons and earthquakes are frequent experiences to those living in Japan. The most recent typhoon traveled at 115 miles per hour, leaving much destruction behind. An amusing note is that U. S. army weather bureau identifies the typhoons with a girl's name.

"Presentos" are what Japanese give to their friends when they return home. Mrs. Cleaver received so many "presentos" that together with her household articles her living quarters are cramped.

Beautiful vases, exquisite china, lamps, fragile hand-painted silk articles are but a few. Each article has a historical meaning or history.

In her travels in Japan, Mrs. Cleaver visited an interesting colony in the northern island of Hokkaido of Japan. Here the Ainu people live. They are comparable to the American Indian of this country.

These people worship the bear, believing that it is really the returned spirit of their ancestors. Bear rituals are held often. Miniature bear replicas are favorites in Japan, and of these Mrs. Cleaver has quite a few, intricately carved with every minute detail distinct.

In many parts of the island of Japan, the use of the kimono has disappeared. The Sukoyaki table—12 inches from the floor—is still used, however, and the people sit on the floor while eating.

Christianity Advances

"It is surprising," Mrs. Cleaver said, "how many people in Japan are turning to Christianity. The worship of Shintoism and Buddhism is declining, and the missionaries are doing excellent work."

Japan is not without social functions. While president of the Ladies of the 64th Engineers Officers club, Mrs. Cleaver was quite active in parties, dances and other attractions.

Her husband, First Lieut. Cleaver, was chairman of the entertainment committee. Tours are greatly enjoyed also by the occupational forces in Japan.

The somber note of her stay in Japan was the attending of the war criminal trial of Tojo. He was unmoved and upon receiving his sentence did not display any emotion.

"No matter how interesting another country may be," Mrs. Cleaver declared, "it always is good to come home. There's no place quite like New Castle."

Her family is army-minded, it seems. At one time practically every member of the family was in service.

Lieut. Cleaver also served during World War I in Germany. He has been in service for 15 years, and now is at Fort Lewis, Wash., with the 36th Engineer Combat group.

Her son Richard was recently discharged from the U. S. navy; a son, Robert, returned from duty in Germany and now is at Shreveport, La. The oldest son, Harold J. Jr., received the Purple Heart for injuries at Anzio; a daughter, Bernyce, a former WAV is now Mrs. W. L. Bohannon of Washington, D. C. As for Mrs. Cleaver she's content at just being a resident of New Castle again.

Phalanx Group Elects Officers

Phalanx club, consisting of 19 to 25 year-old young men of the YMCA, formally organized at the Y and elected officers.

Those elected were: primus, Ralph Stokes, pro-primus, Jim Snow, tribune, Arthur Lockwood. A treasurer of quaestor will be selected at the next meeting.

The Phalanx group plans a busy winter season, which consists of an educational, athletic and social program. Guest discussion leaders will be called in to talk on different subjects that appeal to young men. The group will also have a basketball team to play other Phalanx groups from YMCAs throughout the district. Plans for the social gatherings have not yet been formulated.

Phalanx is planning to make formal application to the state YMCA for a charter. The actual investiture and installation of officers will take place sometime in December, with a visiting Phalanx group conducting the ceremonies.

Phoney Bonus Claims To Get Stiff Fines

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The commonwealth will crack-down on phoney bonus claimers to the extent of $1,000 fines and five years jail terms.

The State Department of Military Affairs, which will administer the half-billion dollar bonus program for eligible World War II veterans or next of kin, hopes to minimize New York's experience of 200,000 fake claims. Then penalties are set forth in the bonus enabling act.

In an attempt to eliminate bogus applications, the department has announced that original discharge papers will be required when the program gets underway shortly after the end of the month. Photostatic copies will not be accepted in Pennsylvania.

The department expects to pay out about $430,210,900 to about 1,215,000 ex-servicemen and women who need not pay any fee for help in drafting applications.

Individual payments will be based on $10 for each month of domestic duty and $15 for each month of foreign duty with maximum grants not exceeding $500. Next of kin of deceased veterans will be eligible for the top amount.

Two More Held In Pharmacy Test Answers Sales

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Two men allegedly connected with sale of answers to state pharmacy tests were held in bail for court Monday by Judge Curtis Bok.

The men were John J. Sabatino, of Upper Darby, Pa., self-styled "go-between," and Joseph Digiovanni, of Philadelphia.

Sabatino testified in last week's trial which resulted in conviction of Mark L. Rothman, State Pharmacy board member, and Dr. David C. Cross, patent medicine manufacturer. They await sentence.

The Upper Darby man asserted he brought pharmacy candidates to Sabatino, who took $1,500 each from them. Sabatino said he also saw Gross turn over $1,000 to Rothman on one occasion.

Digiovanni was mentioned in Rothman's defense testimony as the man who threatened him with violence unless he was "cut in on a deal." In which Rothman was alleged to have been involved.

Highway Department Lays Money Aside To Pay Motor Fund

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The State Department of Highways set aside $2,446,366 for the December 1 payment of motor fund money to cities, boroughs and first and second class townships.

Failure of some local authorities to file expenditure reports for the period resulted in withholding the difference from the $2,500,000 quarterly allotment under the law. The eighth installment under the act covers the following payments: 48 cities, $537,734; 876 boroughs, $522,447; 61 first class townships, $162,532; 1,466 second class townships, $1,223,651.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21.—Horton Ellensbach gets a bigger kick out of working in pictures than any guy in Hollywood.

He knocks down a lucrative livelihood by allowing actors and actresses to boot him in the face on an average of 240 times a year.

Ellensbach, a mild-mannered gent who grows petunias as a hobby, pulls down the juiciest weekly pay out of joint, the studio stepped in to "save face." They hired Ellensbach to take the punishment.

Absorbs 62 Kicks

In the three weeks, Ellensbach absorbed something like 62 assorted boots in the ears, face and nose—and emerged from the ordeal with nothing more than a slight headache and a yearning for coconut candy bars which he claims builds up his "facial energy."

Most of the biggest names in Hollywood have planted their toes in Horton's shockproof face at one time or another during the past few years.

Humphrey Bogart, Clark Gable, Robert Taylor, Boris Karloff, James Mason, Howard Duff, Alan Ladd and Dick Powell all have played soccer with Horton's head.

And such glamour gals as Ida Lupino, Betty Grable, Maureen O'Hara, Yvonne DeCarlo and Marta

Never Seriously Hurt

Low Income Groups Eat More Chicken

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The agricultural department reports that low income families in the city are eating nearly twice the volume of poultry today than they did seven years ago.

On the other hand, meat consumption among these families has risen only 30 percent.

Poultry eating among city families of all income levels has increased about one-third since 1942 but is still far behind expenditures for meat and fish.

About 26 cents out of every food dollar spent by city dwellers goes for meat and fish, compared with only four cents for poultry.

Poultry consumption averages about a pound and a half a week among city households.

Most of the poultry consumed by city families is fresh, frozen and cold-storage chicken. More roasters and stewing chickens are served than broilers and fryers, presumably because the price is usually cheaper.

Sophomore Girl Make Career Plans In Home Economics

Ten future occupations for girls in the field of home economics were presented to the sophomore girls in that course at New Castle senior high school recently.

Junior girls, under the direction of Miss Wallace, gave a short talk on the various occupations to the newcomers. The sophomore girls then had an opportunity to signify in which of these fields they were interested. A member of the New Castle Home Economics council will give the girls additional help in the chosen field of interest.

Polly Francis introduced the program and its speakers. Speakers and their subjects were as follows: Etta Mae Ritchie, costume designing; Carolyn Aiello, interior decoration; Marjorie McKinnon, dietetics; Joanne Cubellis, research; Genevieve Gamble, teaching; Dorothy Doran, extension work; Rose Marie Panella, radio and journalism; Esther DePlacido, home making as a career; Betty Richardson, home economics in business; Elaine Lutton, career for girls who cannot get to college.

Most Hunters Need Visual Correction Says Noted Doctor

Hunting Accidents Often May Be Due To Some Failure In Seeing

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22—(INS)—Two out of three hunters need some sort of visual correction to make them successful hunters and safe in handling firearms.

Dr. Elmer M. Soles, director of the American Optometric association said "good vision is the hunter's most important equipment," and added:

"Hunting accidents often may be due to some failure in seeing, mistaking another hunter for deer or other game . . . and of course the hunter who does not see properly often comes home empty-handed." Dr. Soles said about four of the nine million Americans hunting each year require visual care. About 140,000 are color blind and fail to distinguish bright colors from the neutral colors of fall surroundings.

Here are some of the skills needed, according to Dr. Soles:

1. Ability to focus quickly on the back and front gun sights, and on the distant target.
2. Hand-eye co-ordination, so the right handed, left-eyed hunting isn't so much a problem. Some find it wiser to shoot left-handed.
3. Color discrimination, or freedom from color-blindness.
4. The ability to judge distance and space relationships.

Dr. Soles said "facility in focusing declines rapidly with age."

He said that even in early forties, many men become far-sighted and have trouble focusing on the back sight of a gun.

He added, however, that most hunters can have their vision brought up to par by constant care.

West Side Pupils To Have Program

Pupils of the West Side control will express their thankfulness at a special Thanksgiving program to be presented Wednesday afternoon in the school building for parents and other guests.

The program will be given primarily by the member of the 4-1 class while the massed chorus under the direction of Miss Margaretta Hess will be made up of pupils from various classes.

Following several selections by the chorus, including, "For The Beauty of the Earth" and "Thanks Giving Day Prayer" the 4-1 class will give the poem "We Thank Thee," "Prayer of Thanksgiving" and "We Plough The Fields and Scatter" will follow by the chorus. "A Thanksgiving Story" will be given by the class with the school joining in singing "Come Ye Thankful People."

The program will continue with: Poems, "Why Muriel Gave Thanks" and "Little Turkey Gobbler," song, "Thanksgiving Day," play, "Thanksgiving Feast," songs by the chorus; Thanksgiving song, Peggy Whiteford and chorus, "Thankfulness."

Case Of Measles Saves Boy's Life

TULSA, Okla.—(INS)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Broach, of Tulsa, prayed for days their son David would catch the measles.

He did and his life was saved. Last December 16 the 18-month-old boy was stricken with nephritis, which infects the kidneys, taking the protein from the blood. About 50 per cent of the children who contract the disease die.

Mrs. Broach wrote to a noted Boston child specialist and he told them not to try the measles cure, an experiment with nephritis at Barnes hospital in St. Louis.

After David had undergone 10 blood transfusions the couple decided to try the experiment. David was put in the same bed with a youngster who had the measles.

He finally caught the measles, lost much of his puffiness in 10 days and recovered almost magically.

"Measles are wonderful," Mrs. Broach said.

Watch For Fleas After Vacations

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(INS)—A bit of flea-infested wisdom was passed out today for those who went away on summer vacations.

Entomologist Ray Huston, of the Michigan State College staff, said keeping the house closed for several weeks can result in a committee of fleas at the homecoming.

He said you might not know they're there for several months after you return and gave two good reasons for this.

They go through several stages before being able to bite. And if you're the nervous type who won't stay in one place long, they can wait—adult fleas can go several months between meals.

OFFERS HOPE FOR SINUS VICTIMS

JOHN CONSTANTINO (left) listens through earphones to gramophone sound vibrations in demonstration by Dr. C. A. Volf at Chicago, which, the doctor holds, will aid sinus sufferers. Director of research at International Hearing Institute, Beverly Hills, Cal., Dr. Volf's process utilizes sounds which start off like a buzz saw and switch gradually to a low "riveting" pitch. (International Soundphoto)

First use of coaxial cable for a regular television program came at the Republican convention in Philadelphia in 1940, the relay being to New York.

In a fluorescent tube, when the switch is flicked "off," light-producing atoms continue to bounce around inside the lamp for a fraction of a second before the escape.

HILLSVILLE

RED CROSS WORKERS

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, principal of the Mahoning township school, reports that the pupils are busy in the work of the Junior Red Cross. The enrollment is 100 per cent and they are packing Christmas boxes for overseas. The boxes, 28 in all, are well filled and are valued at two dollars. The enthusiasm with which they work shows their willingness to share with less fortunate boys and girls in other lands.

CLASS MEETS

Members of the Berean Bible class gathered at the home of Mrs. Ray Penwell on Friday evening for their regular monthly meeting. Following the business meeting plans were discussed for their Christmas party, after which the remainder of the evening was spent in playing games and social chat. At a late hour a tasty lunch was served in keeping with the Thanksgiving season by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Frances Craft.

HILLSVILLE NOTES

District Sabbath school convention will be held next Sunday in the Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Vylus Latshaw and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McCurdy and family spent the week-end visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Latshaw of Claredon, Pa.

Mrs. Mary Houlette who has been discharged from the Jameson Memorial hospital is improving nicely at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stoner of New Castle. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson have returned from Clarion where they attended the funeral of their nephew Blaine Thompson, whose body recently returned from overseas. He was killed in 1945 while in service of the U. S. Army.

Miss Daisy Sfarra was a recent visitor in New Castle. Mr. and Mrs. William Pepe and family have returned from Sharon where they attended the funeral of the latter's mother, Mrs. Maria Guadagnone.

Nut Tree Crop Survey Started

HARRISBURG—Authorized by the General Assembly of 1949, the State Department of Agriculture has started an intensive survey of the possibilities of expanding the growth in Pennsylvania of tree crops other than commercial fruit.

Emphasis is to be placed on the finding of a suitable substitute for the American chestnut which was dominant 50 years ago and since was wiped out by the blight, also on commercial production possibilities for black walnuts, hickory nuts and acorns.

An appropriation of $15,000 was approved by Governor James H. Duff for the state-wide survey. One objective is to increase the production of nuts, wild apples, berries and other wildlife and game foods, according to Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director, State Bureau of Plant Industry.

PEAK ELECTRIC LOAD

More electric current was consumed in this district Monday than on any other day this year, according to Pennsylvania Power company officials, who said that, while the load consumed was the peak for 1949, it did not meet the peak of December, 1948.

HERE AND THERE
IN SPORTS' LAND

SPORT—HERE & THERE
BOB FORD, Wild Life lecturer, displayed sound pictures of wild life at the recent meeting of the Lawrence County Council of sportsmen, which were much enjoyed. The council has directed Eddie Fritz, Jr., secretary, to request the Pennsylvania Game Commission to convert the former Jordan Game farm into a rabbit propagation project. In fact, the council would like to have a similar project in every borough and township in the county. Buck deer season arrives November 28, expires December 9, and Doe Day will be December 10. Jim Megan, a U E & F, formerly of Butler, says the new mayor of that place, Tommy Nicholson, is athletically inclined like his predecessor, Cliff Campbell. "When we were youngsters our club, which could only muster nine players, played Gaffney, a twin bill. Nicholson pitched the 18 frames, winning both games." Incidentally, Jim said Nicholson is the originator of the Horse Parade movement in Butler. Ellis Boyd, Pennsylvania avenue, has caught his share of Pymatuning Lake fish this year, and on Sunday, will be angling for Wall-Eyes. An interesting bowling item comes from St. Paul. It reads: "With six teams bowling in St. James Women's 'A' loop, and their sixth week of bowling completed, each of the six teams had won nine games and had lost nine games, and everyone was tied for first place."

John Gibbons, former hard coal miner, and ex-state policeman, says a peculiar situation exists in Pennsylvania wrestling. "The State Athletic commission prohibits advertising the bouts other than an 'exhibition' appoints deputies to supervise the 'exhibition'; also referees and judges to decide a winner, and collects a state tax from the affairs," he reports. Several boxers who have passed their peak are going to Florida for bouts this winter. Ellwood City and Wampum Rod and Gun Club will turkey shoot tonight. Union Township Volunteer Firemen warm turkey-shooters with coffee. They hold a shoot every Saturday night at Union high field. Sergeant John Burke, a fisherman, who was in charge of the Auto Drivers examination detail here, has been transferred to Bakersburg station. There should be considerable baseball talk in the Lawrence County courthouse next year. Frinistance, "Flip" McNahy, register and recorder-elect play minor league ball, as did Sheriff-elect "Jewie" Coen. "Jokey" Travers, a commissioner, played hereabouts at Doc Tommy O'Brien, a sheriff's deputy.

Quarterbacks To
See Army Movies

Through the courtesy of Earl "Red" Black, coach of the Army football team, members of the Elks 69 Quarterback club this evening will enjoy movies of the 1948 Army games. The dinner gets under way at 7 o'clock. Also tonight is pep night by the Quarterback club for the big New Castle-McKeesport game at Pittsburgh on Saturday. A fine program has been arranged.

Joe Hartman, who scouted McKeesport for New Castle, will be on hand tonight to give the Quarterback club an insight of what to expect at the stadium Saturday. Hartman will have a fine message for the diners.

Joe Louis Meets
Chesul Tonight

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Joe Louis, retired undefeated heavyweight champion, meets Joe Chesul Dr. Bayonne, N. J. tonight in a ten-round exhibition bout at Newark armory.

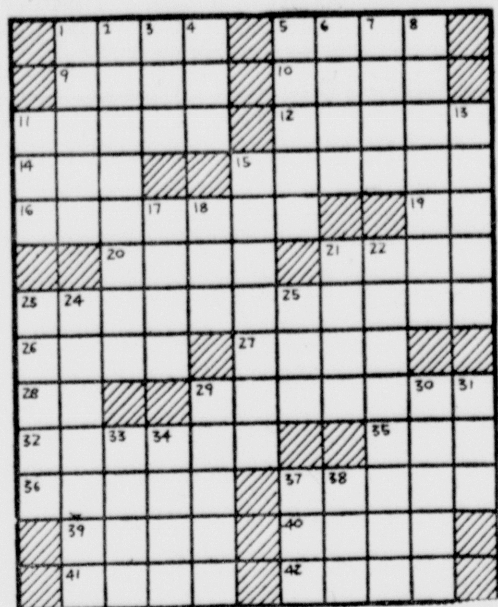

It will mark the Brown Bomber's second ten-rounder in nine days. Joe boxed and floored Johnny Shkor three times in Boston, Nov. 14 in his first exhibition over the ten round route.

Joe, who will be 36 in May, denies that he plans to make a comeback for a title bout with Ezzard Charles next summer. But the fact that Louis has previously limited most of his exhibition bouts to four heats leads many observers to believe that he may be planning just such a comeback. Chesul is no soft touch. He's said to be strong, fast and a good boxer. He has never been ko'd in 25 professional fights.

Cerdan was never rated among the all-time ring greats, but had been well up on the list of crowd-pleasers ever since his Madison Square Garden debut against Georgia Abrams in 1946.

Conerly Still
No. 1 Passer

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Chuckin' Charley Conerly of the New York Giants still ranked today as the National Football league's No. 1 pass tosser.

The Giants' sophomore sensation now has whistled off 213 heaves for a total of 1697 yards and 15 touchdowns. Conerly led the rest of the NFL's high-calibre passers for the second straight week and the third time this season.

Trailing him in order are veteran Slingin' Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins and the Notre Dame "glamour boy", Johnny Lujack of the Chicago Bears.

Bauch Runnerup
 Baugh jumped from fourth place to second and Lujack from fifth to third over last week's standings. In the pass catching category, Tom Fears of the Los Angeles Rams broke out front by snaring eight against the Chicago Cardinals to run his total to 52.

Other NFL leaders:
 Scoring: Gene Roberts of the Giants (90 points).
 Punting: The Rams' Bob Waterfield (45 yards).
 Punt returns: Verda Smith, also of the Rams (278 yards).

Sitko, the dray horse of the Notre Dame backfield, carried the ball 80 screaming yards to break open a savage Notre Dame-Illinois game in 1946.

Charges Washington Leads In Drinking

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. — A prominent dry charged that more drinking is going on in the nation's capital than anywhere else in the United States.

Rep. Bryson (D) S. C. spokesman for dry forces in Congress, said liquor stores have the choicest locations in the city and do a tremendous business among the nation's great and small.

The congressman asserted that the gatherings attended by members of the House and Senate and government officials it is often difficult to get a glass of water, although liquor is always available.

Bryson asserted in an interview that the American people "are the greatest consumers of liquor in history." He added:

"And more liquor is consumed per capita in the city of Washington than anywhere else in the country."

Huge Sum Spent for Liquor
Bryson asserted that in 1948 nine billion dollars was spent in the United States for liquor. He said:

"Crime is rampant and juvenile delinquency is on the upgrade. When people begin to realize the havoc that is being caused by the unrestricted use of liquor, they're going to rise up and curb its use, if not prohibit it entirely."

Bryson asserted that the dries were "holding their own and gaining ground—and will continue to do so." He admitted, however, that he was "shocked" by the repeal of prohibition in Kansas. He added:

"There is a tendency for the pendulum to swing backwards and forwards. It is swinging forward again for the dries."

Predicts Prohibition Return
Recently Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, national president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, predicted the early return of prohibition. She said:

"I believe the time is coming shortly when prohibition is coming back. The liquor people think so too. That's why they're spending one-half of their advertising budget talking against the return of prohibition."

Asked to comment on her prediction, Bryson stated that the word "prohibition" has fallen somewhat in disrepute among certain people. He emphasized that in his opinion the important thing was to control the liquor traffic.

As a step toward this end, he urged enactment of the legislation, jointly sponsored in Congress by himself and Sen. Lauger (R N. D.) to ban the advertising of liquor on the radio and in newspapers and periodicals sold in interstate commerce.

Bryson said he was not prepared at this time to say what other steps were necessary, in his opinion, by Congress, but said a great number of areas in the nation were banning the sale of liquor by local option.

Future Pianists' Club Assembles

November assembly of the Future Pianists club took place Saturday evening in the Green room of the Y. W. C. A. with Joanne Audia serving as hostess.

The following students played selections on the piano: Dianna Klenotic, David Matthews, Dick Flannery, Linda and Judy Laurell, Enrichetta Franquillo, Emily Robertson, Lee Conner, Judy Allen, Norma Baum, Carol Joseph, Janice Kay Smith, Elaine McQuiston and Dick Cunningham.

After the group enjoyed various games a lunch was served buffet style.

A gift exchange will feature the December assembly.

In a new laboratory, researchers can reach down to 459.6 degrees below zero Fahrenheit—within one-tenth of a degree of absolute zero.
